Cheering Welcome To L.B.J.

Assures West Berlin Of Solid Link To West

BERLIN (AP) — West Berliners took Lyndon B. Johnson to their hearts Saturday in a tumultuous emotional welcome to the U. S. vice president as a symbol of America's pledge that Berlin will remain free.

Johnson in turn told the cheering Berliners that they are linked solidly to the free world and to all people "who live in freedom and are prepared to fight for it." He predicted the Communists would fail to keep Germany divided.

As Johnson spoke, a crack 1,500-man battle group of the U.S. 8th Infantry Division headed for the border of Communist East Germany. It was ordered out of its base near Mannheim to reinforce the 5,000-man U. S. Berlin garrison. It will arrive Sunday.

Britain ordered in a trainload of wheeled equipment. A British garrison spokesman said this "very welcome" contingent — 18 troop carriers and 16 scout cars — was on the way. No more British troops are expected for the time being, he added.

In a speech to an applauding West Berlin city Parliament, Johnson declared the Communists are "trying to interpose barbed wire, bayonets and tanks against the force of history" in Berlin.

He gave the Parliament President Kennedy's personal pledge that the freedom of Berlin and access to the city would be maintained.

He made the speech after landing by plane in overcast, drizzly weather on a presidential mission to boost German morale in the face of Communist restrictions on travel of East Germans to West Berlin.

Perhaps a million of West Berlin's 2½-million people turned out to greet the handshaking, baby-kissing Texan. Hundreds of thousands showed up for a handkerchief welcome that stretched for miles through the streets and ended in a roaring salute in the jammed City Hall Square.

A crowd that police estimated at more than 120,000 listened over loudspeakers outside the City Hall to the words of the vice president.

Johnson referred to the troop walls and planking that the Communists have installed since last Sunday to stem flow of East German refugees.

"Lift your eyes from these barriers," he urged, "and ask yourselves: Who can really believe that history will deny Germany and Berlin their natural unity? Who can really believe that the German people will choose communism after what they have seen on German soil?"

Johnson flew to Berlin after a stopover at Bonn, in which he conferred with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. West Germans there showered him with flowers and waved flags on his drive in from the airport.

He directed a warning in Bonn to East German Communists and Soviet leaders alike that "humanity's retribution will be swift and emphatic" for a crime against peace.

"I am very satisfied," the chancellor said after his talk with Johnson. "I am flying to Berlin myself in the course of next week."

Here the vice president was warmly welcomed by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, an advocate of active reprisals who in running against Adenauer in West Germany's general election Sept. 17.

Two Airmen Die, Two Survive In Crash Of B47 Jet Bomber

HASTY, Colo. (AP) — A B47 medium jet bomber crashed and burned in a wheat field early Saturday, killing two of its four crewmen.

The dead were Lt. Raymond E. Gaub, 28, of Menna, S. D., the aircraft commander, and Airman 1C Richard Jones, 22, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., a maintenance man.

The survivors who parachuted to safety are Lt. Larry R. Eastlund, 23, Denver, navigator; and Lt. Arturo Aviles Jr., 27, Los Angeles, the pilot. Their injuries were reported minor.

The plane was on a training flight from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Tucson, Ariz. Air Force officials said the crash came at 12:15 a.m., just after completion of a high-altitude simulated bomb release.

Springfield Woman Gets First Injury At 1961 State Fair

The first accident reported at the 1961 State Fair was the injury suffered by Mrs. Harry Coles, 66, of Springfield, Mo. She fell on the sidewalk in front of the fire station on the grounds Friday afternoon and fractured her right arm.

She was taken to the Bothwell Hospital by a State Highway Trooper where Dr. D. K. Kirby rendered medical attention and Dr. J. C. Gottsch, bone specialist from Kansas City, made an examination.

Mrs. Coles is the assistant superintendent of the rabbit show on the grounds.

Reds Reject Protests By The West

Charge Refugee Flow Arose From Maneuvers By West

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union rejected Saturday Western protests against East Germany's closing of Berlin's east-west border. It charged the flow of German refugees from the east arose from Western "deception, bribery and blackmail."

The Soviet note belittled U.S., British and French accusations that their occupation rights had been violated. It pictured West Berlin as an espionage den and blamed the West for East Germany's internal trouble.

The United States, Britain and France protested Thursday in identical notes against the "flagrant and particularly serious violation" of their legal position in Berlin. They demanded a prompt halt to "these illegal measures."

The Soviet note replying to the three powers contended that such claims could be lodged "only with an extreme sense of humor." The note indicated that the border closing—which it termed "defensive measures"—would end with the conclusion of a German peace treaty. Unless the Allies agree on a peace treaty, Premier Khrushchev has threatened to sign a separate treaty with East Germany.

Conceding "certain temporary inconveniences for the city's population," the Soviets placed the blame on West Germany and the United States, Britain and France.

"The Soviet government has repeatedly emphasized that the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany and the normalization of such a basis of the situation in West Berlin will not infringe the interests of any of the parties and (Please turn to page 8 column 3).

OPENING DAY AT THE FAIR — A steady stream of cars flowed down State Fair Blvd. (lower left) as the State Fair officially opened Saturday morning. Although this photo was taken shortly after 9 a.m., cars were already bumper-to-bumper along the boulevard and numerous cars can be seen in parking areas near

Determined To Keep Out Hoffa

AFL-CIO Welcomes Teamster Defectors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO under President George Meany is quietly extending a warm welcome to defecting units of James R. Hoffa's Teamsters union.

But Meany at the same time is as determined as ever to spurn bids for the ousted Teamsters organization to be brought back into the federation so long as Hoffa remains union president.

Sources close to Meany confirmed Saturday that the AFL-CIO played an encouraging role with Meany's consent—in the decision of four Cincinnati, Ohio, teamsters locals to break away from Hoffa's union.

The welcome mat is out, these sources said, for these locals comprising about 4,000 members to join individual AFL-CIO unions. Some already are talking with the AFL-CIO brewery workers.

Nor is Cincinnati the only spot that Hoffa has met with sizable defections since his overwhelming election in early July to a new five-year term as Teamsters president.

Over 5,000 Chicago taxi drivers have bolted the Teamsters in a government-held election to form their own independent union. Cab drivers in St. Louis are attempting to bolt.

And Hoffa, busy for weeks trying to negotiate a new West Coast truck drivers' contract, has met a determined revolt from drivers in the San Francisco Bay area who want to do their own negotiating.

Whiteman Air Force Base will conduct a 24-hour practice war-time mission exercise under simulated enemy nuclear attack conditions August 28.

In announcing the exercise, 340th Bomb Wing Commander Colonel Willis F. Lewis said the base sirens will be used to "warn" of various simulated wartime emergency situations.

The entire exercise will be confined to Whiteman Air Force Base. Col. Lewis said, "The base will be closed to the general public except for emergency use."

Dependents of military personnel residing off-base and civilians with base privileges will not be permitted entry during the exercise except for emergency reasons.

Col. Lewis has requested that individuals not assigned to or working at the base, refrain from visiting during the disaster control exercise.

Spade Cooley Is Convicted Of Murder

Jury Will Meet Tuesday To Decide If He Was Sane

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Spade Cooley, 50, former band leader known as "the king of western swing," was convicted by a jury Saturday of murdering his wife, Ella Mae, by beating and stomping her last April 3.

The jury had deliberated 21 hours.

Cooley took the verdict without show of emotion.

He had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

The jury meets again Tuesday to determine whether Cooley was sane at the time of the slaying.

If Cooley is adjudged sane, then the jury must decide whether his penalty will be life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber.

Sex, violence and bitter jealousy figured in testimony at the trial of the musician-turned real estate man. Ella Mae, 37, a blonde ex-vocalist in his band, was slain at their ranch home in suburban Willow Springs.

Cooley's daughter, Melody, 14, testified she saw him drag her mother's partly nude form from a shower by the hair, slam her head against the floor, stomp on her hand burn her with cigarettes.

Cooley testified he struck his wife after she told him she planned to join a free love cult. He said she told him of initiation rites and "I must have hurt her terribly. I had a hazy recollection it was an animal, not Ella Mae."

When she described the cult, he said, "Rockets went off in my brain. My head literally was on fire."

Donell Clyde Cooley was born in the storm cellar of a shack near Pack Saddle Creek, Okla. He got his nick name of Spade Cooley many years later in a poker game when he held five spade flushes in a row.

Church Services This Morning

Today is Veterans' Day at the Missouri State Fair and fair officials anticipate a record attendance with the weather clearing after the drenching rain the grounds received Saturday. Saturday's attendance was about the average for the opening day.

Religious services are to be held this morning starting at 8 a.m. and lasting for one hour, during which time all fair activities will cease until 9 o'clock.

Protestant services are to be held in the grandstand, the Catholic services are to be in the large coliseum, the Lutheran services at the Missouri Highway Department gardens, and the Jewish services in the Women's Building.

This afternoon big car auto racing will take place on the half-mile oval. Workmen began late Saturday night preparing the track for today's event.

Tonight the Missouri State Fair Horse Show opens in the Coliseum for show horses and runs through Friday night.

The State Fair Review will be held in front of the grandstand opening tonight through Thursday night.

Opening day ceremonies were held Saturday afternoon in front of the grandstand at which time Haskell Holman, state auditor, greeted the crowd. Holman said, "It is a great thrill as well as a pleasure to represent the officials of the State of Missouri, and I am sure everyone as well as I regretted the absence of Gov. John M. Dalton who is out of the country. It is a particular pleasure to be here on Armed Forces' Day with representatives of our great Armed Services and the day Al Sweeney and his great group of internationally known race drivers and cars will put on a great show."

The State Auditor then read a letter of regret from Gov. Dalton and from U.S. Senator Stuart Symington, U.S. Senator Ed V. Long, and other officials expressing their regrets for being unable to attend the official opening of the 59th annual and greatest State Fair.

Commissioner of Agriculture Don Thomason, whose department the fair is a part, greeted the people on behalf of the department and fair.

The Whiteman Air Force Base crack drill team presented a drill and then posted the colors as Corwin Elliott of Fairfax, Mo., directed his high school and the Malta Bend high school bands playing the National Anthem.

A precision "fly-over" formation of nine F-102 "Delta Dagger" fighters from the Richard-Gebaur Air Force Base, took place at 1:30 p.m. They were a part of the Air Force Defense Command of Kansas City.

The "fly-over" was an Air Force salute to the Missouri State Fair in connection with the Air Force (Please turn to page 8, column 3).

Search For 2 Escapees Is Dropped

Officers Believe They Have Left Pettis County Area

The Pettis County Sheriff's Department has discontinued its search for two escapees from a prison farm in Jefferson City, it was learned Saturday. The two men, officers feel, left the area early Saturday in a stolen car.

The escapees, reported to be Lloyd Paul Wilson, 29, and Martin Struble, 26, allegedly escaped from the Renz Prison Farm in Jefferson City Thursday.

Wilson was serving time from Cooper County for burglary, and Struble was serving time from Gentry County for passing bad checks, the Highway Patrol said.

Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said Saturday he feels certain the two men escaped from the area in a car belonging to Shelby Oehrke, 2508 East Broadway.

The Sedalia Police Department received a call from Sheriff Wilbur Schmidt, Henry County, about 5 a.m. Saturday, reporting that local authorities in Appleton City had stopped a car owned by a man in Sedalia.

When the car was stopped, police in Sedalia were told, a subject jumped out of it and ran. Appleton authorities apparently were unable to apprehend the subject.

A check of the license plate revealed the car belonged to Oehrke, who did not know of the theft until notified by police.

The two escapees were subjects of an intensive search at the eastern city limits of Sedalia Friday night. Numerous Highway Patrol officers in Sedalia for the fair, Sedalia police and the Sheriff's Department deputies were involved in the hunt.

Friday afternoon authorities received a report that the two men had been seen near Smithton. They apparently worked their way west toward Sedalia later in the day. Employees at the Jerry Brown service station, East Highway 50, reported two men answering the description of the escapees came in, bought some candy bars and walked out. The men were not located.

Sheriff Fairfax reported Saturday since authorities feel sure the two men left the area in the Oehrke car, the search here was called off. Troop F of the Missouri Highway Patrol in Jefferson City said Saturday afternoon it still has a wanted notice on the two men.

Could Save Many Lives

Minute Memory Units Hold Down Big Electronic Jobs

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—Your life could depend some day on an electronic whiz that the size of the period which closes this sentence.

The whizbit is a "memory unit," thousands of which go into the first-sized computers our new space-age weapons use for brains.

If just one of these "brain cells" failed to function—

One of our sky-spy satellites might not be able to detect an enemy missile attack in time to flash a warning.

One of our missiles might miss its target—a launch pad, perhaps, where an enemy rocket waits with your name on it.

It's a king-size job that must be done by these tiny objects, the smallest monuments yet erected to man's ingenuity.

But a peasant could afford one. The price: 2 cents.

Man had a good model to copy in creating the memory cell—his own brain.

In some ways the copy surpasses the original.

In the human brain, thought waves travel along fibers from one nerve center to the next.

In the electronic brain, electrical signals travel along wires from one memory unit to the next.

Distractions and emotions can confuse the way a man thinks, send his thought waves on detours.

In an electronic brain there are no detours. The electrical signals follow a predetermined path.

In an Agena satellite—the vehicle for Midas missile-alarm instruments and Samos space cameras—the fixed pathway is a kind of an electronic roadmap through space. By following it, the signals fed into the computer guide the satellite through the maneuvers it must make, at the right time and place.

One of the problems with satellites is their tendency to wobble. A spy sky must be stable in space if its lenses are to focus properly on an enemy missile base. If an Agena wobbles, an electronic brain computes the amount of wobble and the thrust that steam jets must generate to counteract it.

Engineers build the ability to meet this and other emergencies into the computer at the factory. Their success lies in the way they arrange the memory cells.

Memory cells are doughnut shaped and so small you could lay 1,000 of them side by side on a postage stamp.

They are made of a mixture of rust (iron oxide) and milk of magnesia (magnesium oxide), stamped into shape and baked like a cake.

At Lockhead Electronic Co., which recently contracted to make millions of them for use in all kinds of computers all over the world, production has become almost completely automatic.

Starting with a dry powder so silky that it sloshes in a jar like water, technicians whip up a batter whose exact ingredients are a closely guarded secret. Poured out on a sheet, the batter is allowed to solidify slightly before a stamping machine presses out the tiny doughnut shapes, which then are fired like fine china.

Special machines test the beads electronically, and each tester has a machine testing it. Beads which pass this inspection are strung on tiny wires spread out in certain patterns. The wires and beads are imbedded in a fiberglass mold and the mold is taped to a wafer-thin circuit board something like that in your radio.

This circuit board is the basic building block of all computers. The more boards you have, the bigger and smarter the computer. Let's take the simplest possible circuit board, known as a memory plane, and see how it works. Each memory plane is like a road map.

You've seen road maps with letters spaced across the top and numbers down the side. You locate a town by looking at the index, where you find it listed with a letter and a number after it: Clearwater 7C.

Draw a line out from 7 and another down from C and sure enough, there's Clearwater.

A memory plane is laid out the same way. Each bead has a name: 7C, 5B and so on. Every bead is strung with at

Sedalia Zone MYF Elects New Officers

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Sedalia Zone had a picnic at Liberty Park Sunday night with a large crowd of young people and their sponsors in attendance.

After supper Mike Silsby, zone president, presided at the business meeting. An election of officers was held with the following being elected: Carol Shoemaker, president; Kathy Smith, vice president; Mary Katherine Lamm, secretary; Linda Meyer, treasurer; Patsy Duly, my fund; Kerry Taylor, witness; Susan Alexander, citizenship; and Danette Sullivan, publicity. Faith, outreach and fellowship are yet to be elected.

Rev. Roy Strubling delivered an inspiring message. Lenette Yancey, Lindon Goodman and Carol Shoemaker were elected to the District Council.

A district rally will be held at Wesley Church Sept. 10.

least two wires, the ends of which extend beyond the mold which encases the circuit board.

When they come from the factory the boards, or planes, are electronically blank. Memory is built into them by running current through the wires to the beads.

One pulse of current gives the memory cell a positive condition—it will say "yes" later when asked by a questioning pulse. If it is not given a pulse, it remains in a negative state—it will say "no."

To prevent every bead from being put in a "yes" condition only half a pulse is run through each wire.

If bead 7C is destined to be turned into a "yes" cell, it gets two half-pulses, one from the wire numbered 7 and one from the wire lettered C.

The "no" cells get only half a pulse from a single wire—not enough to turn them into "yes" cells.

Once the pattern of "yes" and "no" cells has been set, the memory plane is ready to go to work—to remember, when called upon, what it has been preset to do.

HAIR-RAISER—The "hairdo" is coincidental, but appropriate. William Tallack, 23-year-old researcher in Harpenden, England, has spiders on his mind. Vacation-time project: a search for black widow spiders. He hopes to bring 'em back alive to England—from Morocco.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Our eight-year-old son is gentle and kind. He has a sweet disposition and gets along well with everyone. Every night when we sit down to dinner his father says, "Well, son, have you had a fight yet?"

"The boy always lowers his eyes and meekly replies, 'No.'" His father has suggested in many ways that it is manly to fight, and if a boy does not have a few fist fights he is either cowardly or other people are pushing him around. I deplore this notion, but he says women don't understand these things and that if it were up to me the boy would be a cream-puff.

Please discuss this in your column. If I am the one who needs straightening around I will gladly change my ideas.—A MOTHER.

Dear Mother: It is normal for boys to fight now and then but a boy who does NOT fight is not abnormal, nor is he cowardly.

Your husband sounds like a bully who found satisfaction in beating up on others. He can't understand how a boy can get along without the crutch that he found so useful. He should be grateful that his son is better adjusted, more secure, and more mature than he was.

Dear Ann: My best girl friend lives in the same block. Her father is a respected member of the community. Our parents have been friends for many years.

This summer I went on a trip, 250 miles away, to visit relatives. They gave a small dinner for me at the downtown hotel. As I glanced around the dining room I saw Louise's father sitting at a cozy table for two with a pretty woman. I pretended not to see him but I'm sure he saw me.

Since returning home I've been wondering about this. Louise casually mentioned that her dad had been to the same city "to get his teeth fixed."

I keep telling myself the woman was a relative or a business acquaintance but I must admit it didn't look that way. I wouldn't mention this to Louise, but shall I tell my mother?—BIG EYES.

Dear Big Eyes: Why? Merely mentioning it suggests that you think the worst, and you have no evidence whatsoever because you have no idea who the woman was. Loose talk can cause immense damage and heartache. Remember that big people talk about ideas. Medium-size people talk about things. Small people talk about people.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going to be married to a successful business man soon. His first wife died five years ago and I have spent the last 20 years of my life being a career woman.

Henry insists I stop working and devote all my time to being a homemaker and a hostess. He is in the banking business and we will be entertaining a good bit. Frankly, all this is frightening. I've never done fancy entertaining because of a limited budget.

I've bought some books on how to give a successful dinner party, but the menus, floral pieces and fancy settings throw me. I know you don't write a food or etiquette column but I need moral support. What makes a GOOD dinner party?—B.T.B.

Dear B.T.B.: It's not what's on the table that makes a good dinner party. It's what's on the chairs.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

An 'Outstanding Citizen'

Former Sedalian Retires At Carlsbad, New Mexico

Robert J. Cunningham, selected as Most Outstanding Citizen of Carlsbad, N. M. in 1950, was recently honored by the community and his employer upon his retirement from International Minerals and Chemical Corporation at Carlsbad. He lacked only a few days of completing 21 years of service at IMC.

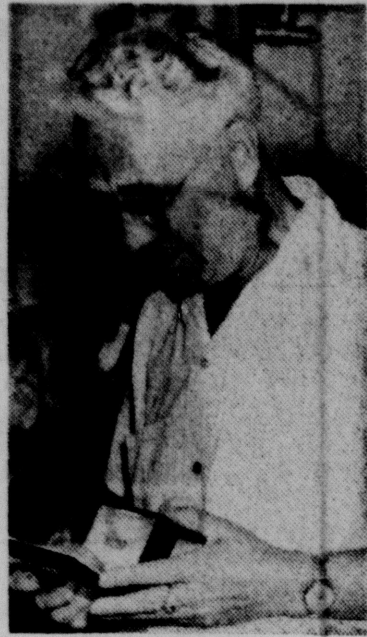

Rearred in Sedalia, he was a member of the 1914 graduation class from Sedalia High School. After completing a course at Central Business College he began the study of engineering while working for the Missouri Pacific Railroad here. He entered the U.S. Army in 1918 and served until April 1919.

In the years that followed he continued with engineering positions with the Missouri Pacific, Butler County and with the Missouri State Highway Commission.

In 1935 he became associated with Chas. A. Haskins, consulting engineering firm of Kansas City and was construction engineer at Alcoa Refractory, Jefferson City. In 1938 he was sent by that firm to Carlsbad, N.M., where he was resident engineer in charge of the installation of a city sewer system and construction of a sewage disposal plant.

Upon completion of that assignment he joined the engineering staff of International Minerals and Chemical Corporation, which at that time was completing the development of a potash mine and construction of a potash refining plant near Carlsbad. He remained with their engineering department until his retirement Aug. 1 under the company's plan, all costs of which are paid by IMC.

After going to Carlsbad he became active in many community activities. He held every office in the Carlsbad Elks Lodge and went on to become state president of the New Mexico Elks Association in 1954. He is a past commander of the Carlsbad American Legion post, was USO chairman during World War II, organizing commander of the Carlsbad Recreational Association, held key offices in Boy Scouts and Sons of the American Legion and has been a member of church and hospital boards.

Largely as a result of his work as Carlsbad Teen-Age Canteen director, coupled with his other activities, he was selected as Carlsbad's Most Outstanding Citizen in 1950. Both he and Mrs. Cunningham, the former Gladys Main, of Edina, Mo., devoted much of their time to this activity during the immediate post-war years.

Always active in his professional societies, he was organizer of the Missouri Society of Professional Engineers. He is also a member of the American Association of Engineers, National Society of Professional Engineers, and of the Military Society of Engineers.

The Cunninghams plan to continue residence in their home at 808 North Mesa Street, in Carlsbad.

American Royal

Any Pettis County 4-H member planning to enter 4-H livestock in the American Royal should have their entries in the Extension office no later than Friday, Sept. 1. We must forward the entries on to the State 4-H Club office no later than Sept. 5. Each livestock entry requires a separate card as follows: green card, each entry in sheep, steer and swine classes; blue card, each entry in registered heifer classes; and wide blue "summary card," to summarize all exhibits of each exhibitor. These cards are available at the County Extension office for your use in entering these classes.

Feeder Cattle Sales

The 4-H boys and girls in the 4-H baby beef project will soon be completing their projects. Some 4-H members have already sold their beef steers while others will sell them in a short time. When you send your cattle to market we hope that you will take the opportunity to go along with the steers and see them all. This will be a very educational opportunity for you.

Now that you have raised your beef steer, you may wonder where you can secure a good beef animal for next year's project. To make a good show steer by next summer you should start your beef steer on feed by October or November. There will be 44 Missouri Cooperative Feeder Livestock Association sales with 48,700 calves and yearlings in Missouri between Sept. 11 and Oct. 20. Here will be an opportunity to pick up a good 4-H project steer. Also several beef cattle breeders in this area will often have steers for sale.

While we are talking about sales, the Missouri Cooperative Feeder Livestock Association is sponsoring 24 feeder pig sales over the state of Missouri between Sept. 14 and Oct. 27. There is a total of 48,000 feeder pigs consigned.

4-H Livestock Trophies

At State Fair

There are two County 4-H Livestock awards that the exhibitors from each county strive to win each year. One is the Governor's Sweepstakes Trophy. This trophy will be awarded by Gov. John M. Dalton to the county in Missouri which makes the most outstanding exhibit of livestock, dairy and poultry in the 4-H division.

This is an annual trophy and the trophy will become property of the year's winner. Quality, quantity, distance from the State Fair grounds and attractiveness of the stall will be considered. Quantity will be determined by the total point of value of ribbons won. Quality will be determined by the total gold ribbon points in relation to total points. A 10 per cent advantage will be given to those counties that lie outside a 50-mile zone and a 20 per cent advantage to those outside a 100-mile zone. No county will be considered whose stalls are not kept in a condition acceptable to the stalls judge.

Another trophy is the 4-H meat animal special. The Missouri Frozen Food Locker Association will present a handsome engraved trophy to the county with the most outstanding 4-H meat animal exhibits at the Missouri State Fair. All beef cattle, swine, sheep, and poultry exhibits will be considered in the making of this trophy award. Number of exhibits, quality of exhibits, distance traveled by the exhibitor to the State Fair and attractiveness of the stalls and pens will determine the winner of this trophy. The same advantage for distance traveled is considered for this trophy just as for the sweepstakes trophy.

The Pettis County 4-H livestock and poultry exhibitors have won both of these trophies in some of the past years.

Turn In 4-H Records

Each 4-H member is asked to turn in your project records to your project leader or community leader not later than Sept. 20. This will give the community leader and club secretary time to get the records compiled and the summary in to the county Extension office by the deadline, which is Oct. 1.

Did you complete your 4-H club project this year so that you will receive a 4-H completion pin? If you are in doubt, check the following four requirements: (1) Attend at least six community meetings; (2) Attend a majority of project meetings held; (3) Have made the required number of articles in your project or raised your animal or plants according to the

Retaliatory Income Tax Bill Vetoed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Otto Kerner vetoed Friday a bill calling for a retaliatory state income tax against states bordering Illinois.

The legislation, drafted by Rep. Alan Dixon, D-Bellefonte, would have taxed income of non-residents who work in Illinois. The tax would have been equal to that which Illinois residents working in bordering states are required to pay in those states.

The bill stemmed from the Missouri tax on persons who work in that state but live in Illinois.

Kerner said in his veto message the legislation appeared to single out one group of persons for taxation merely because of their residence, adding that this may violate the state and federal constitutions.

The governor also said the measure would throw a heavy burden on the State Revenue Department.

Under the provisions, Illinois employers would have been required to file with the department names of employees who are non-residents and the department would have advised companies what taxes to withhold.

Kerner said he sympathized with those Illinois residents whose earnings are taxed in states where they make their living. But he said the bill would not solve the problem or ease the burden of Illinois residents.

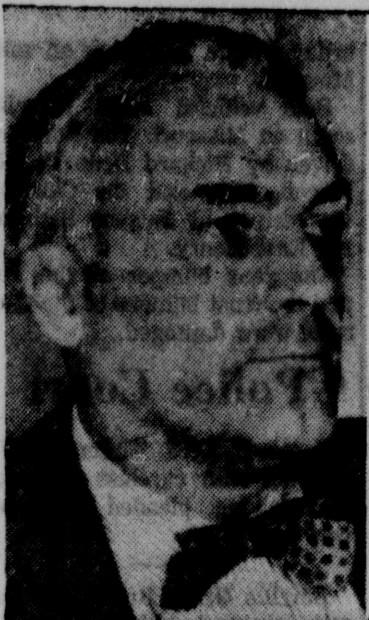

Quick Action By Teenager Saves Infant

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Quick action by a teenage uncle trained as a life guard restored the breathing of a seven-week-old baby after the infant appeared to be suffocating Friday at her home in South St. Louis.

Mrs. John Sapienza told officers she had just given her daughter Michelle some vitamins and was bathing her when she stopped breathing and started turning blue.

The mother's brother, 16-year-old James Dunphy of suburban Mehlville, gave the baby mouth-to-mouth respiration.

Income, Production Up

Two Record Achievements Brighten Week's Business

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Two record-breaking achievements brightened the business picture during the week.

Americans' personal income rose to a new annual peak in July.

Industrial production increased for the fifth consecutive month and exceeded the prerecession peak.

These developments came while businessmen were engrossed with the possibilities of what may come out of the Berlin crisis.

Will a negotiated settlement or a continuation of the cold war at crisis level mean a boom in business? they asked. Or will a hotter situation bring government controls and higher taxes?

The Commerce Department reported that personal income climbed to an annual rate of $421.8 billion last month. This was a gain of $4.5 billion over June and $17.1 billion over July 1960.

Record factory payrolls and an extra payment of government life insurance dividends to five million veterans accounted for the increase in the July rate.

The Federal Reserve Board's index measuring production of mines, factories and utilities moved up two points to 112 percent of the average for 1957. The previous high was 111 in January 1960.

Requests of home buyers for Federal Housing Administration mortgages increased in July to the highest level in 11 months. Applications reached an annual rate of 249,000. Officials said the gain probably was due to lower mortgage interest rates.

President Kennedy, feeling that further spending is needed to spur the economy, ordered a speed-up in highway spending through release of $818 million in federal funds to the states. The money normally wouldn't be allocated until Oct. 1.

The United Auto Workers ordered strike votes at the plants of General Motors, Chrysler and Ford over the weekend as the Aug. 31 contract termination date neared.

But M. M. Chummins, Ford labor relations manager, said he was "very optimistic" that a settlement would be reached before the deadline.

Passenger car production slumped during the week to the lowest level of the year—an estimated 14,000, compared with 21,636 the previous week and 47,437 a year ago. Most of the output consisted of 1962 models.

The Federal Reserve Board found in a survey that in July the number of families planning to buy new cars in the next six months was the greatest for the last three summers. But the number planning to buy new houses and appliances was lower than a year ago.

Steel production improved during the week despite a lag in orders from the auto industry, which was holding back to see how labor negotiations come out. Output reached 1,910,000 tons, up 3.2 per cent from the previous week.

Steel industry sources said August was a better month than July, and September orders were being received at better than the early August rate.

Wholesale food prices mounted during the week to the highest level since April 25.

Baking sources said housewives probably will have to pay a penny a loaf more for bread soon because of higher manufacturing costs.

With Americans eating 15 billion loaves of bread a year, a penny increase would add up to $150 million.

A federal grand jury indicted three big manufacturers of antibiotics and their top executives for allegedly fixing prices and monopolizing the manufacture, distribution and sale of the drugs.

Accused were Chas. Pfizer & Co. and its chairman and president, John E. McKee; American Cyanamid Co. and its chairman, Wilbur G. Malcolm; and Bristol-Myers Co. and its president, Frederic N. Schwartz. All defendants denied the charges.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange the past week totaled 18,024,090 shares compared with 18,163,380 the previous week. Bond sales on the exchange amounted to $26,502,000 par value this week compared with $30,569,000 the week before.

Briefly around the business scene: W. R. Grace & Co. says it has developed a chemical that will preserve fresh flowers for several months. Trans World Airlines arranged to borrow $147 million to help finance purchase of 26 jet airliners. Campbell Soup Co. announced it will market a line of dry soup mixes.

Accidents

A seven-year-old Sedalia girl received minor injuries in a one-car accident just south of the Sedalia city limits on Kentucky Ave., Friday evening.

Giana Marie Snyder, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Snyder, Route 2, received a nose injury in the mishap. She was treated by Dr. Carl Siegel, and released to return home.

The Ewing ambulance was called to take the young girl to Bothwell Hospital.

According to Trooper James V. Wheeler, Kirkwood, who investigated for the Highway Patrol, the accident occurred after Mabel L. Martin, 68, Route 2, Sedalia, apparently lost control of a 1954 Buick she was driving.

Wheeler reported the car went off the left side of the road, struck a culvert and went into the ditch. The car was north-bound when the accident happened.

The car, extensively damaged, was towed to Sedalia by Howerton's wrecker.

The accident occurred at 5:50 p.m.

No injuries were received in a two-car accident at 1:36 p.m. Saturday at 409 North Osage.

Effects of REA Program On Rural Area Related

Beneficial effects of the Rural Electric Administration program on rural development and area economy and background information on its operations, was the theme of a talk before fellow Sedalia Kiwanians by George Ray, manager of the Central Missouri Electric Co-operative, at the club's meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The CMEC comprises an area of 90 miles long and 24 miles wide in Saline, Pettis and part of Benton county under Mr. Ray's jurisdiction.

Included in Mr. Ray's comments were the following:

The first meeting of citizens concerning Rural Electric Administration was held at the Oasis Cafe, Marshall Junction on Monday Aug. 8, 1935, with J. U. Morris as secretary. The second meeting of this Committee was held on Thursday Aug. 18, 1938 in the Assembly room of Pettis Co. Court House in Sedalia for the purpose of adopting articles of Incorporation with Mrs. Edward Heffernan as secretary.

On Aug. 20, 1938 this same group of incorporators met again at the Assembly room in the Pettis County court house to adopt by-laws and elect a Board of nine directors, consisting of a President, vice president and secretary and treasurer. The Board of Directors held monthly meetings until Feb. 14, 1939 when the first annual meeting of members was at the County extension office YMCA building Sedalia, to authorize the borrowing of not more than $1,500,000 for construction of lines. On March 7, 1939 another member meeting was held to borrow $400,000.00 from REA to begin construction of lines as follows: Pettis and Saline counties 395 miles; Cooper and part of Moniteau county 115 miles; Moniteau, Morgan and Cole counties 119 miles; Morgan and Camden counties 86 miles, making a total of 815 miles. Counties which were originally planned to be a part of this project were later considered to embrace too large a territory, so it was decided to divide the area into two systems — the Central Missouri Electric Cooperative to consist of Saline, Pettis and the northern part of Benton county; the Co-mo Electric of Tipton to include Cooper, Moniteau, Morgan and the western part of Cole county.

On July 5, 1939 the first construction contract for building of lines was let in the amount of $270,000 for approximately 420 miles of line in Pettis and Saline Counties.

On Dec. 29, 1939 the first member received service. She was Bernadine Pound who lived on Kentucky Street road at about 44th street. The balance of the line was energized in April 1940.

For the next five years only about 100 miles of line were built due to the war, this serving a total of 1,100 members in Pettis and Saline Counties, but the next five years from 1945 to 1950 some 1,200 to 1,300 miles were built serving some 3,400 members, or a total of 4,500.

Today we have 1,952 miles, serving 5025 members or 2.58 members per mile of line, using an average of 350 KWH per month. The average KWH for 1952 per month was less than 150. Our total plant cost is $3,815,951.87 less reserve for depreciation of $1,267,863.62, leaving a balance of $2,548,088.25. On this balance we pay $104,000.00 on the principal at $52,572.46 interest per year.

Electric borrowers have paid $806,166,417.00 on the principal, $474,846,764.00 in interest and $169,394,387.00 paid in advance making a total of $1,450,407,588.00. Jack Crawford was program chairman and introduced the speaker.

President Schien announced that there would be no regular program next Thursday. There will be a luncheon meeting, however, and members may leave early to attend the Missouri State Fair.

Sylvan Woolery, chairman of the committee on Support of Churches called attention to printed prayer folders beside each members plate, copies of which have been distributed among the Sedalia restaurants for table use.

Guests were: Stanley Koch, Minneapolis, with Virgil Winge; and Kiwanian John L. Winter, of Huntington, Ind.

Johnson County To Have First Roadside Park In Near Future

Through the efforts of the Country Crossroads Garden Club, Johnson County will have its first roadside park.

Workmen began last week clearing the area at the southwest corner of intersection of Route J and E, where the park will be located.

The land for the park was donated by Miss Lois Kendrick and Russell Kendrick, and when the park is finished, a plaque will be placed there, stating that the land was donated in memory of their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kendrick.

The garden club has been working on the project for several months, getting the land and obtaining necessary permits.

Picnic tables and grills will be placed in the park for the convenience of those using it. More equipment will be added at later dates.

The Country Crossroads Garden Club will have complete maintenance and upkeep of the park. After the area is cleared and ready to use, the club will landscape it.

Divers Recover Body of Post Office Clerk

CAMERON, Mo. (AP)—The body of Earl McCord, Cameron post office clerk, was found late Friday in the Burlington Reservoir, where he had gone fishing Thursday evening.

McCord, father of three, was an experienced fisherman and excellent swimmer but apparently was trapped in seven feet of water by his heavy wading boots after his small boat capsized 25 feet from shore.

Friends said McCord wore the waders because he often got out of the boat to fish in shallow water.

Rain Holds Up Saturday's Race

Folse Wins Race; Track Set For Today's Big Car Event

The big car racing event was delayed Saturday afternoon for two hours because of a drenching rain, but Pete Folse, Tampa, Fla., finished up the glory race in the lead spot late in the afternoon. The track is ready for the same cars to battle each other this afternoon.

Auto racing officials announced that time trials for today's events are scheduled this morning, although actual racing won't be until the regular 2 p.m. starting time.

This development, brought on by less than favorable track conditions stemming from yesterday's rain, can mean a break—either good or bad—for the drivers.

But all are expected to be on hand, including some who disabled their cars in mishaps attributable to the slick track.

Track conditions improved throughout the afternoon after crews with heavy machinery ran the track, larger graders blading the mud, and cars "ironed it out."

Folse, national champion of the International Motor Contest Association, sped to victory by a comfortable margin, although in an unspectacular time. Folse had his troubles early when he barely qualified for one of the better starting spots with a clocking at :25.19, then placed fourth in a heat event.

In the time trials Johnny Ruthford of Fort Worth was out for the afternoon when he got into a gob of mud and piled through the fence.

Gordon Woolley, Waco, Texas, and Ray Duckworth, Anderson, Ind., had their troubles when they tangled in the next to the last lap of the feature, struck some heavy mud and spun into the fence.

On the 17th lap, Jerry Daniel of St. Paul, Minn., went through the south curve fence when a king pin broke. His car disappeared over the embankment, but seconds later he freed himself and ran to the edge of the track to let the officials know he was all right.

Jerry Blundy, Galesburg, Ill., driving a Chevrolet special, who had the fastest time trial of :25.11, battled through the 20 laps to place second, five lengths behind Folse. Folse qualified with :25.19 in the time trials. Time of the feature was 9:28.85.

Buzz Barton, veteran from Tampa, Fla., won the Missouri No. 4 heat race in 3:09.42 for the seven laps. A south Haven, Mich., driver, pushed Barton to the finish line.

Larry North of Dallas, Tex., was number one in the third seven-lap Elwood Haynes heat event in 3:10.43, paced by Charles Lutkie of Wichita, Kan.

Jerry Richert, Forest Lake, Minn., won the Henry Ford heat in 3:16.42, followed by Harold Leep, Wichita.

The Alexander Winton seven-lap heat went to Jay Woodside, Wichita, Kan., in 3:04.15, in a close finish in front of Russ Long, Yucaipa, Calif. It was in this event that Champion Folse placed in fourth position.

Yanks Edge Tribe; Ford Wins 21st

CLEVELAND (AP)—Elston Howard lined a two-out single in the 10th inning Saturday to score the deciding run in New York's 3-2 victory over Cleveland. Whitey Ford posted his 21st triumph, but the Yankees' Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle failed to hit a homer.

Maris, with 48 homers, was 0-for-5 and now is 12 games ahead of Babe Ruth's 60-homer record pace in 1927. Mantle had a single in four trips, but took a called third strike on two occasions. He has 45 homers and is 10 games in front of the Babe.

Howard set up the first two Yankee runs with a double in the fourth inning, then delivered the key blow in the 10th off loser Bob by Locke (4-2).

The winning New York rally was launched by Billy Gardner, who opened the 10th with a double to left—his third hit of the game. Gardner got to play because Tony Kubek came up with a sore elbow.

Maris grounded out to first and Gardner moved to third. Then Mantle looked at a third strike. Yogi Berra was walked intentionally, but Howard spoiled the strategy with a single.

Twins Clip Angel Wings With Homers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Minnesota Twins scored all their runs on homers—including Harmon Killebrew's 37th—and defeated the Los Angeles Angels 5-3 Saturday.

Minnesota left-hander Jim Kaat had a three-hit shutout going into the ninth but was relieved by Ray Moore after Earl Averill tagged him for a two-run homer. A two-out single by pinch-hitter Ted Kluszewski brought in a third Angel run.

Len Green hit his sixth homer for the Twins with a man on in the third and Killebrew got his in the same inning with the bases empty.

Zorro Versalles made it 4-0 with a home run in the sixth, and Bill Tuttle produced the fifth Minnesota run with a homer in the eighth.

Pirates Win In 11th On A Fumble

CHICAGO (AP)—Second baseman Jerry Kindall's fumble off Rocky Nelson's soft grounder enabled Dick Groat to score the winning run Saturday as the Pittsburgh Pirates won 4-3 in 11 innings from the Chicago Cubs.

It was the second 11-inning game the two teams played in as many days, and this one produced Clem Labine's third victory among four decisions. Labine was the Pirates' fourth pitcher as Chicago starter Jackie Curtis went all the way to balance his record at 8-8.

Pittsburgh took a 2-0 lead in the third on a blend of three hits and an infield out.

The Cubs got to Harvey Haddix for a 2-2 standoff in the fifth. This spurt was compounded on three doubles.

The Pirates moved in front 3-2 with a run in the sixth when Don Leppert doubled with one out, and scored on Bill Virdon's single.

Eloy Face replaced Haddix in the eighth when Chicago tied it up a second time.

49ers Stage First Home Game Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco 49ers stage their 1961 home debut Sunday in Kezar Stadium against the Cleveland Browns with John Brodie the man behind the shotgun.

When the 49ers traded veteran Y. A. Tittle to the New York Giants last Tuesday the job of directing the new shotgun spread offense was left almost exclusively to Brodie, the ex-Stanford star.

Brodie faces one of his ex-teammates in Paul Wiggins, the former Stanford All America tackle who starts at defensive end for the Browns.

Although the Browns dropped a 35-7 decision to the Detroit Lions, they remain one of the top favorites in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

Giants Hand Dodgers 6th Straight Loss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Juan Marichal and Stu Miller combined a 5-hit shutout and Orlando Cepeda supplied the power as the San Francisco Giants trounced the fading Los Angeles Dodgers 5-0 Saturday. It was the Dodgers' sixth straight loss.

Cepeda had a hand in every San Francisco run. He scored the first marker and knocked in three others with his 34th home run of the year. The Giants' other run came while Cepeda slammed into a double play.

Marichal (12-7) chalked up his sixth straight victory but had to leave the game with two out in the Dodger sixth because of a muscle strain in his right shoulder.

Miller came in, struck out Jim Gilliam and allowed only two hits the rest of the way for his sixth save.

Stan Williams (11-9), first of four Dodger hurlers, was the loser.

Sports Scraps

WELL the old grind of the Missouri State Fair is in full swing. The money making portion of the fair—speed—got off to a slow start Saturday because of rain, but the two hour delay only made it possible for more race fans to get in and see the whole program. They'll be running again this afternoon, then Friday night the State Champion Jalopy event, followed Saturday afternoon by the 100 mile futurity Big Car races, the State Midget racing Saturday night and the 100-mile stocks on Sunday.

Since way back in the Thirties when Al Sweeney and Gaylord White came to town to promote the races at the fair, it was Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Gradually the fair decided more of it was needed in front of the grandstand to bring in more money.

Needless to say Sweeney, who has taken full charge since the death of his good partner, has done a terrific job for Missouri's fair in the way of speed entertainment—and money making for the State too.

The echoes are loud on the fair track this year and the speed creation and the men who drive these big car racers seem to go faster and faster each year.

The speed isn't only just apparent; it's actual. Our track records annually take a beating. Why is it, we ask, when each year it seems that the cars couldn't possibly go faster?

Evidence shows that no single factor, but a combination of several, is contributing to the rapid rewriting of the record books.

Sweeney, President of National Speedways, who's been in the business for more than 30 years, points to track conditioning as one factor.

We have personnel here who have made a science out of track conditioning, he said: "Tracks are graded, watered, ironed (packed by driving vehicles over them), days in advance, so that by race day we have a surface that gives today's race cars a maximum 'bite,' that is, traction necessary to take full advantage of their powerful engines."

Driver Arnie Knepper credits, modestly enough, the cars themselves. "It isn't that we reach higher speeds, so much," he says but the fact that through better design we are able to maintain higher speeds all the way around the track."

Knepper points to torsion bar suspension, which enables a skilled driver or mechanic to "set up" a car to correspond to the track. Weight can be redistributed among any of the four wheels to allow faster negotiation of the turns.

And finally, there's the inevitable business of improvement, true of athletes in any sport. Records are made only to be broken, and what one man can do, another can do better, we've found after spending more years than we care to remember in chronicling the achievements of athletes, champions in just about every form of athletic endeavor from marbles to the Olympics.

Casper Holds Indian Spring Open Lead

SILVER SPRINGS, Md. (AP)—Billy Casper was able to wrest only one stroke from par 70 Saturday, but managed to hold on to the lead through three straight rounds of the $35,000 Indian Springs Open.

The 69 gave the 30-year-old chubby golfer from Apple Valley, Calif., a 54-hole total of 206, four strokes under par. That sent him into the final round Sunday with a two-stroke lead from the thin man from Worcester, Mass., Paul Harney.

Casper weathered a storm of subpar rounds by others, including a course record 64 by Ted

And auto racing has been no exception. Even with engines a fraction as large as those raced on these same tracks 46 years ago, when auto racing first came to the fair, the speeds go up and up. And more than ever the spectator who appreciates the display of genuine ability gets a bigger buck's worth than ever before, which is the way we like to see it.

PROBABLY one of the most enthused superintendents on the grounds is Ernest Strickler who is heading up the State Fair Horse Show. Strickler is beaming all over the place because of the many entries the show has received and animals on the grounds. From his figures, Strickler says it is the largest show as to entries the fair has ever had.

Strickler, a Sedalian, has worked with show horses for many years and loved the work—some call it sport. But he has always had a yen to be Superintendent of the Horse Show. He got the job and he's been working at it probably harder than any predecessors.

The show opens tonight in the Coliseum and carries on through Friday night. But he also has charge of the Quarter Horse Show which was held in the Coliseum Saturday afternoon and night, and the Saddle Club Show which comes next Saturday afternoon and night.

One of the other big events of the week is the Grand Circuit Harness racing which starts Monday afternoon through Thursday.

Wednesday will be the big drawing day for the harness races when the annual Hambletonian Preview, the Matron Stake No. 52 3-year-old trot. That's the race when most of the entries for the big Hambletonian which runs a week later at DuQuoin, Ill., state fair, will be seen on the Sedalia track.

Some owners of those horses predict the Sedalia race is a great indication as to what's to come the following week.

Then this weekend starting Friday the annual State Horse-shoe Pitching Championship tournament will get underway. A good number of entries for this have already been received from over the state.

Bait Casting will be held at the Conservation Commission exhibit Friday and Saturday when champions will be made from their artistic casting.

All-in-all it's a busy week at the fair grounds. There's funny things going on out there and hard to keep up with.

Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Harney was one of four in the field of 93 to shoot 66 and it gave him a total of 208.

Kroll's conquest of the 7,031-yard course, one stroke lower than ever shot before in its five years of existence, moved him no closer than a seventh.

White Sox Whip A's On Three Errors

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Cal McLish gained his eighth victory of the season as the Chicago White Sox took advantage of three Kansas City errors to score three unearned runs and hand the Athletics a 5-3 setback.

Roy Sievers paced a 10-hit attack by the Sox with a double and two singles.

The Sox took a 1-0 lead in the first when Sievers doubled Floyd Robinson home from first and they were ahead the rest of the way.

McLish, who retired 14 straight batters after giving up a double with one out in the first, weakened in the last of the sixth and was tagged for two runs.

The White Sox made their lead 5-2 in the seventh.

McLish gave up two singles to open the last of the seventh and was replaced by Turk Lown who stopped the A's. Lown gave up the final Kansas City run in the eighth.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves pushed their winning streak to nine straight games by handing the hapless Philadelphia Phillies their 22nd loss in a row Saturday by a 4-3 margin.

Philadelphia threatened with an uprising in the ninth inning that had the bases filled and forced Tony Cloninger from the mound but reliever Don McMahon succeeded in retiring the side after the Phils got one run.

The Braves scored all their runs in the third inning in which Frank Thomas hit a home run and Joe Adcock doubled.

The victory string equaled the National League streak of nine run up by Cincinnati between April 30 and May 10 earlier this season.

Philadelphia, which Friday night set a modern major league record by losing their 21st in a row, came within two losses of the all-time major league losing mark of 24 by Cleveland in 1899.

Ex-KU Athlete Takes Second In Track Meet

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—A former University of Kansas athlete—Kent Floerke—won second place Saturday in the hop, step and jump at the International Military track and field championships. He covered 50 feet 1½ inches.

Italy's Enzo Cavilli won that event with 51 feet 4¼ inches for a record. The old mark was 51 4½ set by France's Eric Battista.

Redlegs Whip Cards, 3 to 1

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds surged into a three-game lead in the National League Saturday night as a home run by Wally Post sparked them into a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the sixth straight triumph for the Reds and came after the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers lost their sixth straight. Joey Jay, going all the way, built his record to 18-7 and gave the Reds their fifth straight complete pitching performance. He didn't allow a hit after the third inning.

The Cards got their run in the opening inning on Curt Flood's triple and a single by Ken Boyer. The Reds got one hit in each of the next three innings but didn't score until the sixth when Kasko's single, a sacrifice and Robinson's single produced a tally.

Post's blow came in the seventh and the Reds got their final run in the eighth on Kasko's single and Robinson's double, a wallop that barely eluded Flood, who made a flying leap for the ball.

Post's homer, which hit the screen in left field, was his 16th of the season.

New Era In Regulating Motor Boats

Saturday marked a new era in regulating the operation of motor boats on Missouri's waters. Enforcement of the new Missouri Boat Law, enacted by the State Legislature back in 1959, was started.

The law had not been enforced before this time due to the failure of the 1959 Legislature to appropriate funds. It went into effect for enforcement Saturday when eight newly appointed supervisors and assistant supervisors made their first test run with their new equipment.

Executive Secretary J. T. Johnson, reported the new unit launched their boats, powered with 75hp motors, at Ramp No. 2 in the State Park on the Grand Glaize arm of the Lake of the Ozarks. The cavalcade, in a test run proceeded to the lake home of M. E. Morris, Director of Revenue, who is also Chairman of the Missouri Boating Commission. From this area in the Gravois arm of the lake, the men dispersed to their assigned areas of the state to enforce the code as set forth in the Boat Law.

Clad in black trimmed, tan khaki uniforms with bronze hardware, these men will inspect all boats on Missouri waters to see that they conform to all requirements of the act.

Any violations of the laws will be explained and warnings issued, if corrections are not made in a reasonable time, citations will be issued.

It is the wish of the commission that everyone avail themselves of the rules and regulations and voluntarily conform to these rules for safety's sake.

Hoelt Allows Only One Hit As Orioles Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—South paw Billy Hoelt cut down the Washington Senators on just one hit Saturday as the Baltimore Orioles breezed to a 5-0 victory.

The one-time star of the Tigers gave up a single to Bob Johnson who led off the fifth inning and otherwise was virtually untouchable.

Johnson hit a ground ball that just eluded shortstop Ron Hansen. The Orioles got three runs in the fourth on three hits and a walk.

In the sixth the Orioles added one more when E. Robinson doubled and scored on Henry Foiles single. In the seventh a double by Jerry Adair and a triple by Whitey Herzog added the final score.

Mexico Doubles Team Raps US For 2-1 Lead

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mexico's doubles team beat the United States Saturday in the American Zone finals of the Davis Cup, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, to take a 2-1 advantage.

Despite an unsteady performance by Rafael Osuna, Mexico did the job with outstanding play by Antonio Palafox and the inability of the United States' Chuck McKinley to hold his serve.

Mexico now needs only one more victory in either of Sunday's two singles to advance to the interzone finals.

Osuna, who had no trouble in defeating McKinley in three straight sets Friday in the singles, was not getting his blazing serve over with any regularity.

But the Mexicans broke through McKinley's serve in the second game of the first set. Dennis Ralston of the U. S. served well in the first three sets, but slipped in the final set.

Sunday, McKinley will meet Mario Llamas in the first singles match and Bernar (Tut) Bartzen meets Osuna in the second.

Bear Faceless Labels

Migrants Are Statistics, Following Crops to Exist

By CHARLES STAFFORD
Associated Press Writer

H.J. Shankle seems not a man so much as a statistic.

Needed but unwanted, he follows the crops, harvesting America's bounty but sharing little of it.

And no one, except his wife and children, treats him as an individual. To his boss, he's only a cipher among "about 140 head" of tomato pickers. To anyone else, H. J. is a faceless label: a migratory farm worker.

He and his kind—an apathetic minority of a million, or maybe two—flow northward in streams behind the crop-ripening sun:

American—Negroes from Florida; white "Anglos" and "Arkies" from the South-central states; Mexican-Americans from the border states, braceros from Mexico, and "fly-ins" from Puerto Rico, pleased in the thought that they are earning more than ever before.

The migrant streams and their tributaries flow into 47 states. The food they harvest goes into all 50 and around the world—fresh, frozen, canned. Without migrants, grocery shelves would be bare of tomatoes, citrus fruit, apples and peaches. Supplies of snap beans, potatoes, asparagus and other vegetables would be reduced.

And what do migrants like H. J. get?

"For most," says William Minergoff of the U.S. Department of Labor, "the answer will be: 119 days of farm employment, at most as many days of fruitless search for work; $710 earned at farm work during the year."

That's the cold statistic. The ever-doubtful future of H.J.'s way of life is becoming even more uncertain.

Machines are harvesting more crops than ever before, particularly those which end up in canneries and frozen food plants: snap beans, beets, carrots, sweet corn, green peas, lima beans, spinach.

In other ways, however, H. J. is better off than the migrant of 5 or 10 years ago.

Through efforts of organizations such as the National Council of Churches' division of home missions, more people have become conscious of the migrant's substandard existence.

And for the first time, proponents of legislation that would guarantee the migrant a $1 minimum wage appear to have a chance of getting it passed in Congress over the opposition of the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation. At present, there is no minimum wage for an American migrant, although the Mexican and Puerto Rican are guaranteed from 50 to 80 cents an hour.

The sun beamed down warmly one recent summer morning on H. J., his wife Ardie Mae, her daughter Polly, and 35 other migrants beside a field on Maryland's lower Eastern Shore. They waited patiently for the sun to sponge away the dew that glistened on knee-high tomato plants stretching away acre after acre.

It was a milestone morning for Polly, 12. She was going into the fields for the first time.

Attorney Says Extradition To Be Fought

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Attorney Vernon R. Wells of Buffalo, accused of helping New York state residents obtain divorces illegally in St. Louis, will fight extradition to Missouri, his lawyer said Friday.

Wells, who pleaded innocent in Erie County Court to a charge, brought by St. Louis authorities, of subornation of perjury, will not waive extradition to Missouri, attorney Frederick M. Marshall said.

The charge against Wells involves procurement of persons to commit perjury. The indictment returned in St. Louis Circuit Court alleges that New York state residents claimed to have been residents of St. Louis in divorce proceedings.

Marshall declined to say if he would demand a hearing on the extradition proceedings.

St. Louis authorities are expected to apply to Gov. Nelson A.

Counterfeit Bills Seized, Man Arrested

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Nearly $300,000 in counterfeit $20 bills was seized by federal agents Saturday as they arrested a former newspaperman in Washington and then raided his home near this southside Virginia city.

Morris Leon (Pete) Chaney, 29, was charged with possession of nearly $300,000 worth of the money when he was arrested in Washington. About $250,000 more of the counterfeit money, plus the plates for printing it, were seized in the raid on Chaney's home.

Late Saturday, officers were seeking a search warrant to inspect the Piedmont Printing Co., the printing firm which Chaney, a former Virginia newspaperman, had operated in nearby Chatham since early this year.

Officers said a chain of evidence first forged with the arrest of another Danville area man at a West Virginia race track led to both Chaney in Washington and the money at his home near here.

Fred Leander Waddell, 37, was arrested Friday on charges of passing counterfeit $20 bills at the Shenandoah Downs Race Track near Charles Town, W. Va.

In his possession, a spokesman said, was a key to a Washington hotel room. Chaney's arrest in Washington came shortly after 1 a.m. Saturday.

In the basement of Chaney's home the raiders found two glass jars in which the bogus bills had been jammed so tightly they could hardly be removed. State Trooper R. M. McCrickard, who participated in the raid, said the $250,000 estimated appeared conservative.

Also found were four printing plates—two for each side of the counterfeit bills—and a half-gallon jar containing photographic negatives. The agents said it appeared that the counterfeiting operation bypassed the need for engraving by using the photo offset printing method.

The plates apparently had been designed, McCrickard said, so that serial numbers and seals could be interchanged.

Waddell, arraigned in Martinsburg, W. Va., Saturday, was held in lieu of $5,000 bond for grand jury action on a charge of passing counterfeit money.

Father, 6 Children Killed At Crossing

DUGALD, Man. (AP)—Antoine Walleyen, 31, St. Boniface, Man., and his six young children were killed Friday night when their automobile and an express train collided at a crossing near this station 18 miles east of Winnipeg.

Mrs. Walleyen, who was at home at the time of the crash, went into seclusion when she learned of the tragedy.

Cuba Asks US Return Freighter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba formally asked the United States Saturday to return a 3,800-ton freighter seized by 11 crewmen late last week and sailed into Chesapeake Bay where the 11 sought political asylum.

The ship is the Bahia de Nipe. It anchored in the bay late Thursday and was put under surveillance by the Coast Guard. The 11 defectors were put ashore after the vessel was boarded by U.S. immigration and customs officials. Coast Guardsmen and Navy intelligence officers.

The State Department then advised the Cuban government through Swiss diplomatic channels that the United States would turn the freighter back to Cuban control if the government at Havana affirmed that it was Cuban government property and requested its return.

Cuba has now replied, State Department officials said, that the vessel is the property of the Cuban government which wants it back.

Meanwhile, the State Department has sent a further message to Havana through Swiss channels giving the names of the 11 defectors and their positions on board so that replacements can be provided.

Another message is expected from Havana in a few days on arrangements for providing the crew replacements.

State Department officials said the Havana statement that the ship is government-owned would be communicated to the Justice Department as legal basis to obtain release of the freighter. It has been ordered seized to settle claims filed by two Philadelphia longshoremen.

Retired Bishop Robert Nelson Spencer Dies

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A retired bishop of the west Missouri Episcopal diocese, the Rt. Rev. Robert Nelson Spencer, died Friday in Ludington, Mich., friends here learned Saturday.

Spencer was 84. He had suffered a heart ailment, and maintained a summer home in Ludington.

New Cholera Cases Found In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—A handful of fresh cholera cases threw the refugee-packed British colony of Hong Kong into an epidemic scare Saturday.

Tens of thousands of people flocked to inoculation centers. The government said only eight confirmed and 13 suspected cholera cases had been reported but social workers said unreported cases may exceed 100.

In Bid For Grid Title

KU Definitely Will Be Without Coan

DES MOINES (AP)—Kansas, the favorite for the Big Eight Football Championship, will make its bid for the 1961 title without the help of standout halfback Bert Coan, coach Jack Mitchell said Saturday.

Mitchell told the annual pre-season meeting of conference coaches that a broken leg Coan suffered in spring practice has not healed and the 217-pound speedster definitely will not play this fall, "and may never play again."

Coan was the Jayhawks' leading rusher with 488 yards as a sophomore last fall. However, the Big Eight had ruled earlier that he could play in the first five games of the season because of an illegal transfer, a ruling which took two victories and the title from Kansas last year and gave Missouri the conference championship.

Mitchell said, however, that quarterback John Hadli, the key to Kansas' offense, has completely recovered from a minor injury suffered this summer and will be in top form.

Missouri Coach Dan Devine indicated he has hopes of derauling Kansas' bid for the title, despite the graduation of 13 of the first 22 Missouri players.

"We could be a fine football team if a pair of sophomores, quarterback Keith Weber and halfback Gerald Stevenson, come through," Devine said.

"However, Norm Beal is our only experienced halfback and he weighs only 158 pounds," Devine added. "We also need help at end, where Danny Larose, Gordon Smith and Tom Carpenter are gone. But our interior line is good."

Colorado Coach Sonny Gradelius and Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson both said their teams will be better this fall.

Wilkinson, whose team is not favored for the first time in years, said "if we don't get beat badly in the first few games we could come along pretty good late in the fall."

Grandelius, whose Buffaloes finished second with a 6-1 conference mark in 1960, said his team has the best speed and depth it has had since he took charge in 1959.

Iowa State Coach Clay Stapleton said sophomores and juniors would carry the load for his team, which saw eight starters graduate.

Other coaches comments: Bill Jennings, Nebraska: "We are strong in the line and at halfback where Bill Thornton has been moved."

Cliff Speegle, Oklahoma State: "Our team now feels it can play in the Big Eight, and I think we'll be able to pull an upset once in a while."

Doug Weaver, Kansas State: "We'll be passing more, but so will everyone else in the conference. Our tackle situation is critical, and our team is small."

CUSTOM-MADE HIVE—Busy bees can now spend even more time gathering honey because of a new, reinforced "prefabricated" honeycomb. Fine wires, made by U.S. Steel, are crimped and embedded vertically in the beeswax honeycomb to provide a no-sag support. Bees will only deposit nectar in perfectly formed, hexagon-shaped cells.

On Two Fronts

Government of Venezuela Is Fighting for Survival

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The most democratic government in Venezuela's history is fighting for survival on two fronts—economic and political—against enemies from both the extreme left and right.

With a less astute politician than Romulo Betancourt at its helm, the 29-month-old regime might have gone under in its first year.

The President appears to have weathered the most pressing crises so far. His position has been improved to some extent by shrewd political maneuvering, but mostly through suspension of some constitutional guarantees.

Grave economic troubles, however, appear to jeopardize hopes for political stability for the remainder of Betancourt's term.

Venezuela's ungainly political body lives in one of the richest countries in South America. It has large deposits of iron and aluminum ore. An estimated $100 million pours into Venezuela monthly for its iron and oil. It has rich farmland.

The annual gross national output is $6 billion, tripled in the last 18 years.

Only 2½ years ago Venezuela deposed Dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez and held the popular election that elevated Betancourt to the presidency. Yet now constitutional guarantees are suspended in a nation that has known only four years of democratic rule in its 150-year history.

The fertilizers that nurtured Fidel Castro abound.

1. Growing unemployment has reached 300,000 out of a labor force of 2.5 million.

2. Fifty per cent of the national wealth goes to 12½ per cent of the income earners. Forty-five per cent of the populace shares but 10 per cent of the total income.

3. An estimated 200,000 farm families barely produce enough to live on.

A two-week tour of the country indicates unanimity at all levels that the government has failed to define its economic and political objectives.

Left-wing extremists argue the government has not gone far enough in its social reform legislation. They say Betancourt is a traitor who sold out to "imperialists."

The government, rocked by attacks from the extremes of left and right, spent large sums on emergency "interim programs de signed apparently to give time to shore up the political foundation.

Betancourt recently raised income taxes, ordered government salaries cut 10 per cent and fired hundreds of government employees.

Yet one political analyst said "Betancourt cannot presently risk drastic austerity without inviting real political trouble."

However well meaning, the government lacked the funds to carry out its agrarian reform. It undertook a stop-gap plan aimed at helping the small farmer through the acquisition and distribution of land from large farms.

The government also failed, despite warnings, to impose quick controls on foreign exchange after the ouster of Jimenez. The result was a loss estimated at over $1 billion.

The sights and sounds on the political front sometimes remind one of Castro's Cuba but at this stage they seem to lack the intensity of the Cuban campaign that led to the establishment of Communism's first major beachhead in the Americas.

Surgery Has Given Boy Normal Life

By PHIL DOPOULOS

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — On a nice day, you'll find Stellakis Parthenopoulos playing in the yard, whooping it up and chasing a pair of frisky lambs.

Then company comes and the 6-year-old lad scrambles back into the house to show off three prize possessions: a toy from Associated Press reporter John O. B. Wallace, a photograph of himself with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, taken at the White House, and a picture of the late Dr. Aaron Gorklik.

Stellakis' mother, Calliope Parthenopoulos, looks at her boisterous, dark-eyed son and says, indicating Gorklik's picture, "without that fine doctor who performed my child to live and play normally, our house would not be a happy one."

Two years ago, the house was far from happy. The Parthenopoulos' family doctor had diagnosed a congenital heart defect in Stellakis, causing increasing strain. The boy needed a delicate heart operation of a kind not performed in their country.

In their appeals for help, the Parthenopoulos' turned to Wallace. The New York newsman had undergone similar heart surgery by Dr. Gorklik. It was performed under local anesthesia, Wallace remaining conscious throughout, and afterward he wrote a story about it which was widely printed.

That's how the Parthenopoulos' heard about him. Wallace helped arrange the boy's trip to the United States, where he was operated on by Dr. Gorklik.

After the successful surgery, Stellakis and his mother visited President Eisenhower before returning to Greece.

Today the whole town of Nikia, a suburb of Athens, marvels at the change in Stellakis.

Just now the family is preparing for September. Mrs. Parthenopoulos says Stellakis will begin school. He's getting anxious to start learning how to read and write.

Stellakis' father, Pantelis, is an iron worker with a monthly income of about $47. Recalling his son's illness, he says, "The transportation costs alone would have taken me a lifetime to repay. We could never have managed to pay for such an operation."

Dr. Gorklik volunteered to perform the surgery without fee. Medication laboratories donated their services, and many individuals chipped in with money.

After the boy's operation on April 18, 1960, Dr. Gorklik—who died of a stroke three months afterward—said Stellakis' case had been so serious that without the surgery "the boy had no chance at all."

Squelch Attempt To Kill Mikoyan

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese police said Saturday they squelched an attempt to assassinate visiting Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan.

Hiroyuki Kawamoto, 22, described as an ultra-nationalist, was arrested in Yokohama station. He carried a dagger, a letter addressed to Mikoyan and a rightist leaflet with the slogan "kill one man to serve your country."

Police said Kawamoto was waiting at the station for a train to Osaka, where Mikoyan was visiting on his tour of Japan.

Browns Visit Mooseheart In Illinois

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Brown of 1403 South Moniteau, Sedalia, recently visited Mooseheart, the home and school owned and operated by the Loyal Order of Moose for children of deceased members in Illinois.

The Browns were taken on a conducted tour of the famed Moo. City of Children, which is located 37 miles west of Chicago, and viewed first hand the facilities which provide care, training and education for more than 500 boys and girls who have lost one or both of their parents.

Of primary interest, Brown said, was the unusual House of God with its Catholic and Protestant Chapels, the Pennsylvania Baby Village and the three newest buildings on the 1,109-acre campus.

They are the Supreme Lodge Administration Building, which houses the international headquarters of the Moose fraternity, and the two newest residence halls, the Pennsylvania-Davis and new California buildings. The new Moose Museum of History is also located in the Pennsylvania-Davis Building.

Mrs. Brown was especially interested in the many individual dwellings of the children at Mooseheart. There are no dormitories or central dining halls. A small number of children live in each of these homes which have their own bedrooms, dining room, kitchen and recreation room.

A housemother, a cook, and in some cases a housefather, are assigned to each hall and make every effort to provide home-like surroundings for the children.

Mr. Brown is a member of local Moose Lodge No. 1494 while Mrs. Brown holds membership in Women of the Moose Chapter No. 1242.

Backyard Farmers Add To Income While Tilling the Soil for Pleasure

Most Enjoy Watching Things Grow

Backyard Gardens Main Source Of Income for Some

By W. D. Hill

WHOEVER SAID: "You can take the boy out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the boy" apparently knew what he was talking about. They may be leaving the farms in great numbers but it doesn't mean they have given up farming entirely.

Throughout Missouri backyard farming city dwellers are everywhere. Some are farming to supplement their incomes, some are farming for the sheer joy of it and others are virtually earning their livelihood tilling the soil inside the city limits.

On a recent tour of several Missouri cities it was noted that backyard farmers are growing in numbers by leaps and bounds. They may have a few rows of tomatoes, some stick beans, or a few sweet potatoes, but many have gone a few steps farther. In most cases those increasing the size of their "fields" each year are the ones who are tilling the soil simply because they like to watch things grow or boast to their dinner friends: "I raise them myself."

Some of these "farmers" aren't amateurs. They know their peas inside or outside the pod and the majority was either raised on a farm or spent several years as professional farmers. "When the going got tough," I moved to the city to work in the winter and farm in the summer," commented a Moberly, Mo., backyard farmer as we talked across the fence while I eyed his crop.

City farmers with yields large enough to sell from predominantly deal with independent food stores and restaurants. Kenneth Thomas, 125 East Walnut, Sedalia, was singled out of the countless number of backyard farmers due to the extent of his operation which includes just about everything you would find on a farm in the wide open spaces with the exception of a cow.

Chickens, tomatoes, green peppers, corn, cabbage, grape vines, a few hives of bees and his own green house put Thomas hoeing a few rows ahead of most city dwelling farmers. His "farm," which includes 12 lots, 11 of them "farm land," is about six blocks from the heart of Sedalia. Thomas earns his living on the farm. He works it year-round. During the winter months he turns to his green house, and before the last frost his vegetable plants are thriving in warm sunshine. These he sells too.

The majority of his produce goes to local stores and restaurants and a few go to close friends. When I visited his "farm" in late afternoon he had just finished loading his pickup truck with vegetables destined for an early morning trip to produce counters in local stores.

"The trouble with tomatoes," he said, picking them from the laden vines, "They get ripe too fast." Corn, too, he said, comes and goes too fast to meet the demand. His prices are kept right in line with volume producers.

Raised on a farm, Thomas said he had a hard time getting used to city life. He's a bachelor and lives with his mother who is 81. She helps with the chores wearing the traditional sunbonnet.

Although the size of Thomas' farm is less than one and a half acres, it is surprising to note the variety of things he raises and the quantity he manages to squeeze into such a small area.

Asked about pilferers (there's no fence around his land) he said only once had he noted signs of anyone entering his gardens. "I found footprints out there the other morning after a hard rain and my shoes wouldn't fit them so I figure I had company early this morning." He added that "this is a nice neighborhood and we don't have much trouble."

In Grandview, Mo., there is an abundance of backyard farmers and here many of them are Air Force personnel. Some have had to pack up and move to a new assignment a continent away, leaving their harvest on the vines.

T-Sgt. M. R. Stevens, a recruiting sergeant, who lives at 13508 12th Street in Grandview, said this was one of the few opportunities he had had to dig his fingers in the soil and raise a few vegetables.

From seven short rows of corn on an 85 by 100 foot lot, Stevens has already reaped 11½ dozen ears of corn and Mrs. Stevens says she has canned 39 quarts of pickled cucumbers from their few vines.

It was interesting to find that most backyard farmers thought I was either a police officer or a city representative when I approached them regarding their crop raising. Many were quick to say they did not want their name or address published nor would they permit the taking of pictures.

Where did those fresh vegetables come from you had for dinner yesterday? They may have been raised in the west 40 block a "farm" or two down the street.

Satirizes All Fads

Hobbyists Beware: Sidney Perelman Is On the Prowl

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

ERWINNA, Pa. (AP)—Let all hobbyists beware—Sidney Joseph Perelman is on the prowl.

For Broadway, the eminent mocker of all fads and foibles is reading "The Beauty Part"—a scolding assault, he admits, on the general frenzy for spare-time creativity.

"On all sides today people are itching on an elaborate scale," chides S. J. "Every damned housewife is studying ballet or writing a novel."

To get sundry shafts of wit and slings of satire properly arched, Perelman has holed up amid the sylvan charms of his 83-acre farm, 100 miles from Broadway. Just up the road is the Bucks County Playhouse, which caters to a heep crowd of exurbanites. There the script gets a two-week test in mid-September with Bert Lahr starred.

The project began to glimmer in Perelman's eye as the result of "Malice in Wonderland," his television excursion in 1959.

That show was widely saluted as a scalpel dissection of the Hollywood way of life. One critic called it "the best satire ever seen on TV."

"We started kicking around an idea for a play of similar satiric approach for Broadway," the author explains. "Then we included several friends, including James Lee, who directed the TV program."

The play is his first solo dramatic stage effort. Perelman twice collaborated on scripts with his wife, once with Ogden Nash. A second effort with the latter, confesses S. J., has been in progress five years "and is up to all of page three."

The decision to zero in on hobby-hour creativeness followed extended exposure to its assorted forms.

"There's a Greek word that sums it all up," he notes. "Caecothēs—which is the itch for doing anything, usually badly. Cacophony comes from the same root."

"I first noticed this urge in Hollywood, where the smell of turpentine was overpowering. Some people were collecting paintings. Then there were the do-it-yourselfers."

Skirt Lengths May Be Longer

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS — (NEA) — Reports crackling along the fashion grapevine here indicate that Parisian designers may unveil longer skirt lengths at forthcoming showings.

How much longer no one will say. Brevity of skirts seems to have climbed to an all-time high this past spring and summer. The under-thirties group has sponsored skirts that just barely topped the knees. Logically, therefore, skirts must come down.

A news leak from the workrooms of Pierre Balmain indicates that he will introduce flares and flounces. The man who is to the world's best-dressed women will, as always, stress osom and waistline. He has chosen beiges, browns, black and multicolored tweeds for his new fall and winter coats.

Pierre Cardin has returned from an extended trip to the Far East filled with ideas, most of them Chinese in inspiration. It's rumored here, too, that skirts will be slightly longer.

At the House of Dior, Marc Bohan is readying his first real style offensive. His first collection on his own last season was a tremendous commercial success. It was restrained, subtle and elegant. But what he has in mind this time is a closely-guarded secret.

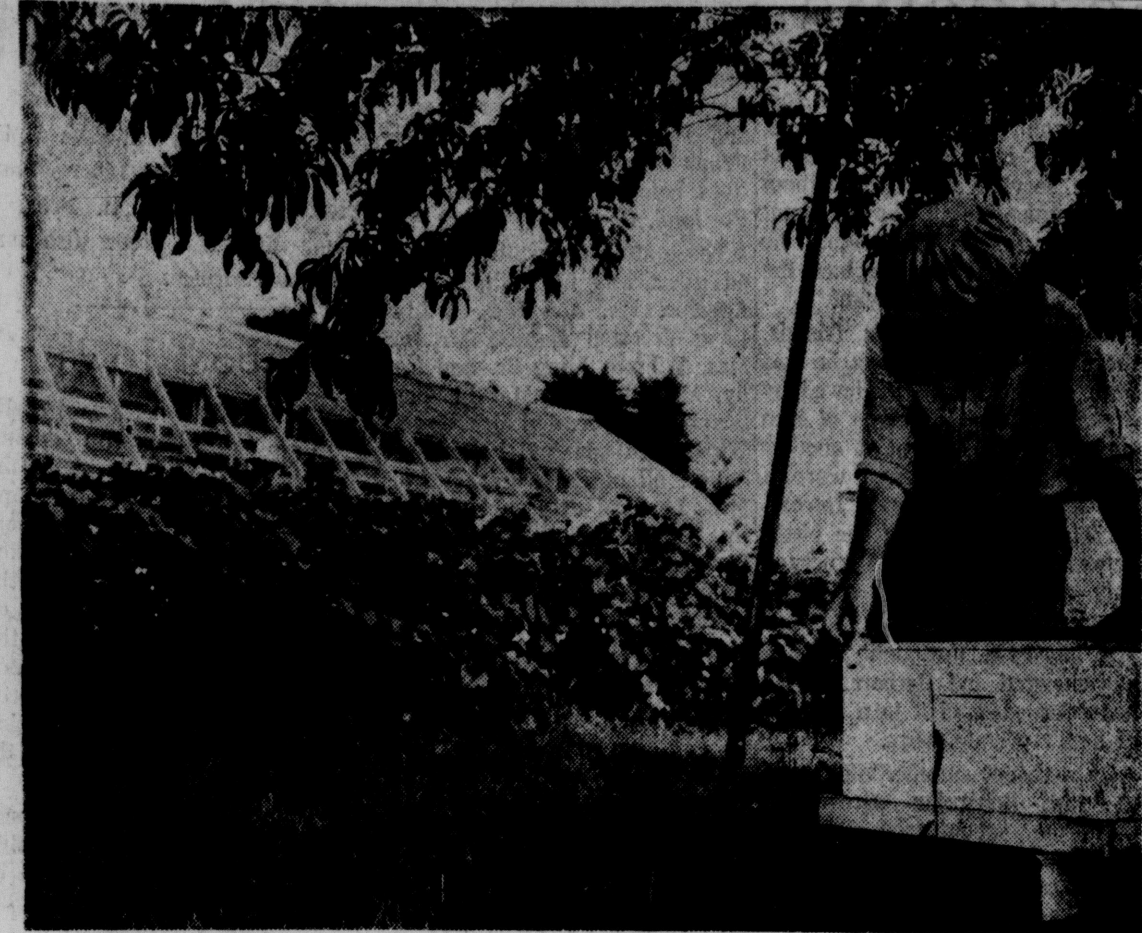

Coco Chanel, that grand lady of fashion, will continue to go her own way regardless of "trends." She's doing her usual beautiful suits which everyone copies. This season, she will show shimmering lame for evening.

Otherwise, both silhouette and skirt lengths remain unchanged here.

Antonio del Castillo is said to be preparing suits that are more feminine in feeling. "Why should women care to imitate men?" he asks. He also will show wide shoulders and sexy décolletés.

Jules Francois Crahay is said to have based his new fall collection on the soft, spiraling princess line.

Miguel Ferreras, a newcomer from New York's famed Seventh Avenue, is the first American to join the ranks of the haute couture since the war. Cuban by birth and American by choice, this designer has intimated that his first French collection will be elegant in an understated, English manner.

HONEYBEES—Kenneth Thomas, 125 East Walnut, a local backyard farmer has his own bee hives and greenhouse (background). Thomas farms nearly one and one-half acres inside the city limits.

Boys Build And Run Station

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—The way to learn how to run a radio station is to build one.

"It's the only way to get practical experience, working on an enterprise from the ground up," says 17-year-old Mike Fast of Bridgeport. Mike is chief engineer of station WPPT here, which he and three other teenage boys built themselves.

The boys studied local stations and made theirs "into something that resembled the others put together," Mike says. Materials costing about $1,000 included program amplifiers, turn tables, speakers, tape machines.

The quartet built much of the equipment last winter. But much technical know-how was supplied later by Cliff Mills, 18, and Dennis Jackson, 14.

Gordon Joseloff, 17, became news director, Jeff Berman, 17, salesman, and Stuart Soroko, 18, had a hand in all departments.

Legal Low Power

"We took a flyer at this year ago, but the FCC ordered us to stop broadcasting because we were unauthorized," Mike says. "We got permission this year to have a low power transmitter as long as we kept within the legal limit of under 100 milliwatts."

They decided to concentrate on reaching the greatest number of people in the smallest area—Compo Beach. A transmitter went into the lifeguard's house. Another was set up on the second floor window of the YMCA in town to reach their sponsors, the merchants.

Jeff took a special selling course, charging the merchants $46 for the season. Their sponsors included 14 season customers, 10 for half-season, some for a few weeks. Merchandise, printed stationery, a clock from a hardware store, curtains from a drygoods store, tickets to the theater also were taken in trade.

"We really needed the money. Telephone wires run to the beach, so our telephone bill is terrific. Half our earnings will go to pay it," Mike explains.

Short on Talk

The boys learned radio appeal, which was particularly useful to Gordon, Jeff and Stuart who want to be announcers.

"We did surveys on the beach and discovered that people don't want a lot of talking—long interviews, lengthy newscasts and weather forecasts. They like music, so we cut down on everything else and gave them plenty of music," Mike explains.

The boys regret giving up their station to return to school. They will be better equipped, however, when they resume next summer. Cliff will attend Norwalk Technical School and Mike will study electrical engineering at Tri-State College. He has already worked as announcer and part-time engineer at two radio stations in the neighborhood.

An Honor But . . .

A representative from the Haitian American Foundation has asked the boys to help set up a small pilot project radio station in Haiti.

The short-term project, for the purpose of providing literacy courses for the villagers, would not interfere with school. The hitch is the $3,000 cost of their transportation.

Soviet Film Festival Is Slam At US

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The United States is playing the Soviet propaganda game by taking part in the Moscow film festival, says producer William Perlberg, just back from Russia.

Perlberg spent almost three weeks in the Russian capital as one of America's official representatives at the festival. His blunt reaction: We're getting a bum deal.

"The whole festival is conducted to further the Soviet cause," he said. "Every single one of the entries from Russia or any of the Iron Curtain countries is loaded with propaganda. They're about the glories of the Russian soldiers or scientists or else they concern agrarian reform or some such cause."

"Plus which the visitors to the festival are fed propaganda about the Communist system. The official program lists visits to factories and collective farms. Of course, they show you what they want you to see, not what you want to see."

"I think we're making a mistake to play the game strictly according to their rules. Either we should refuse to take part in the festival or else seek some means whereby we get a better break."

Perlberg admitted American mistakes helped contribute to our failure to make a showing at the festival. The principal error was selection of the U.S. entry, "Sunrise at Campobello." The majority of Russians in the audience walked out on it.

"I suppose the State Department thought the Russians would like the picture because it was about Franklin Roosevelt," Perl-berg said. "But it was a mistake to pick such a wordy, actionless movie."

"A better selection would have been 'One-eyed Jacks,' which has plenty of action and beautiful American scenery. They would have understood it."

Successful Song Writer Turns to Acting Career

By Bob Cuniff
Gibert Youth Service

What kind of a girl does Gene Pitney like to date? Gene brightens at the question and replies quickly:

"Girls who are intelligent, not too tall, who have dark eyes." These requirements are apt to change, though, so if you happen to be a sincere, tall, blue-eyed blond, don't despair. But don't wear excessive makeup! That's Gene's pet peeve.

If you do strike Gene's fancy, you'll probably have a quiet date, unless you suggest going to see Nat King Cole or Bobby Darin, two performers he especially likes. In his busy life, he hasn't been able to see as much of these or other performers as he likes, but he's all for making up for lost time.

Have you heard "Hello, Marylou"? or "Louisiana Mama" sung by Ricky Nelson? or Steve Lawrence's "Tears from Heaven"? June Valli's "Lookin' at the World"? "Twenty-two Days" by

GENE PITNEY

Clyde McPhatter? Gene Pitney was the author of these hits, as well as being a singer in his own right. His latest record is the title song from "Town Without Pity."

When asked under what circumstances he composes a song, he answers, "I like to listen to classical music when I'm writing rock 'n' roll. Something that builds up like Tchaikovsky's music."

In the future you will be seeing Gene Pitney as an actor. This is a great ambition of his. His favorite actress is Shelley Winters. Before going to Hollywood, however, Gene's plans include doing a night club tour around the country.

Gaining success and a deal of knowledge at such an early age — Gene's 20 — it becomes difficult for him to define happiness. Actually he is a moody and quiet person.

"I like people who have the capacity to be happy but who can be properly depressed, too," he says. "There's something phony about a person who's in a good mood all the time."

"Happiness is something I'm looking for — it comes only with experience at living."

Does this experience include settling down and getting married? "Not yet."

STATION BREAK—Cliff Mills, standing, and Jeff Berman at mike gladly spend summers helping to run radio station teenagers built.

Child Too Smart for School

LONDON (AP)—At the age of 5, Verina Greenway is too bright to go to school.

She speaks and reads English, French and Italian. She can spell and write as well as a normal 10-year-old child. Her arithmetic is as good as an 8 year old's.

But Verina is no bookworm.

She also swims, skates and plays the piano. And she's so good at dancing that she's won 23 prizes. Her mother, Mrs. Kerria Greenway, a professional dancing teacher, said in an interview that she believes a great many children could be as clever as her daughter.

The mother's rules for raising a bright child: "Have love in the home—and lots of it."

"Never ignore your child's questions. Answer them fully."

"Don't let grandma or a nurse bring up your child. Do it yourself."

Verina's mother knew her child was very smart and sent her to school at the age of 5.

After several months her teacher said, "She's a genius and she's too bright for regular school right now."

The teacher advised Mrs. Greenway to have an educational psychologist examine Verina and decide what sort of education she should have.

The mother and the child's father, a British doctor, agreed.

Soon, they are taking Verina for a two-month vacation in Italy.

"I shall work and go down to the beach every day," said Verina. "I think I shall also take up painting when I'm in Italy."

Miss Barbara Jean Lane Becomes Bride Of Mr. Robert Neal Hart

Miss Barbara Jean Lane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Lane, Knob Noster, and Mr. Robert Neal Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hart, Arenzville, Ill., were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at the Knob Noster Methodist Church at ten o'clock in the morning Saturday, Aug. 5. The Rev. Kenneth Diehl performed the ceremony under an arch of huckleberry, fern and white gladioli and bouquets of white gladioli.

The organist, Mrs. Merle Matthews, Knob Noster, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Robert Pemberton, vocalist, who sang "At Dawning," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Danny Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Matthews, Knob Noster, and Miss Suzanne Ford, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Clarence Ford, Whiteman AFB, lighted the candles. Each wore a white robe.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a chalk white gown of silk organza over taffeta and tulle. The fitted bodice was designed with wrist length sleeves and a wide petal neckline. Appliques of large satin roses were used to highlight the yoke and the front of the bouffant skirt. Finished at the back with a flat bow of organza, the skirt lengthened to an aisle wide chapel train. The bridal headdress was a pearl-encrusted crown of lace which held her imported fingertip illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of ivy and yellow roses, centered with a white orchid.

Miss Nancy Budke, St. Louis, served as maid of honor. She wore a terrace length dress of silk organza over taffeta in sunburst gold, styled with a square neckline, cap sleeves, and very full skirt. Her headdress was a circlet of small white pompons. Miss Nancy Lane, Knob Noster, sister of the bride, acted as her bridesmaid. She wore a costume identical in color and style to that of the honor attendant. Their flowers were bouquets of Shasta daisies.

Mr. Mike Kesler, Springfield, Ill., served the groom as best man with Mr. Robert Weldon, brother-in-law of the groom, Minneapolis, Minn., as groomsman. Ushers were Mr. Leonard Clark, Knob Noster, and Mr. Bill Lane, cousin of the bride, Jacksonville, Ill.

The mother of the bride wore a beige silk dress with brown accessories and a cymbidium orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose a beige embroidered organza dress with beige accessories and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church basement with approximately 150 guests attending.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth with lace inserts and centered with a wedding cake and decorated with silver candelabras holding lighted tapers and a punch bowl.

Servers were, Mrs. James Ong, sister of the groom, Marion, Ia.; Mrs. Mary Emma Knaus, cousin of the bride, Knob Noster; Miss Kay Baker, Knob Noster; and Miss Judy Wimer, Knob Noster. Mrs. Galen Ford, cousin of the bride, Prairie Village, Kan., had charge of the guest book.

After the reception, the couple left for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will be at home after Sept. 1. For traveling, the bride wore a two piece blue sheath with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride graduated from Knob Noster High School, attended two years at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill., and will continue work on a degree in foreign language at UCLA.

The groom is a graduate of the Arenzville, Ill. High School, attended one year at Colorado A & M and graduated from Illinois College in Jacksonville, Ill. At the present he is attending the graduate division of the University of California at Los Angeles in the field of mathematics.

Out of town guests besides the attendants included: Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Lane and family, Jacksonville, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Six, Pocatello, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hart, Ashton, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. R. Sanders, Hinsdale, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lane and Mason Lane, Canton, Ill.; and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Burr, Warrensburg.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott Stegner of Raytown, formerly of Pilot Grove, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanette, to Lt. Leon J. Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pierce, Englewood, Colo.

Miss Stegner is a graduate of the Bethany Hospital, School of Nursing in Kansas City, Kan., and is presently employed by the Santa Fe Hospital.

Lt. Pierce attended the University of Colorado in Boulder, Colo., and is a graduate of the Air Force Cadet training program. He is presently stationed at Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kan.

The ceremony will take place Sept. 10 at the First Southern Baptist Church in Topeka, Kan.

24th Homan Reunion Held In Sedalia

The 24th annual Homan reunion was held at Liberty Park Sunday with 156 registered.

Most Exclusive Club

Herbert Hoover, 87 Dean Of Nation's Ex-Presidents

EDITOR'S NOTE—He left the White House in bitter circumstances and, so many thought then, headed straight for obscurity. But Herbert Clark Hoover, rich in inner resources, ever busy with productive work, emerged to new peaks of public esteem and affection as patriarch of the nation's most exclusive club. This is the first in a series of intimate profiles of the three living ex-presidents.

By SAUL PETT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — (AP) — In 1957, when he was 83 years old, Herbert Hoover went out to Independence, Mo., to help dedicate the Harry Truman library on a hot July day.

For an eternity, he sat in 91-degree heat and a flow of oratory. It is difficult to know which he minded more, although his views on verbosity are sharp and clear.

After the ceremony, the 30th president of the United States was invited to the home of his friend, the 32nd president of the United States, for refreshment. A local matron, gushing with curiosity, fluttered up to Mr. Hoover and asked what ex-presidents do with all their time.

"Madame," said Herbert Clark Hoover, "we spend our time taking pills and dedicating libraries."

Like all Hoover humor, which is considerable, the joke was delivered dead-pan from a square, apple-red face. The words were bitten off, as if broken from a fresh stalk of celery. The lines at the edges of his mouth remained turned down. Under the wispy brows, a faint twinkle lurked behind the misty blue eyes—the look of a man who could no longer be surprised, shocked or hurt by the frailties of man.

None of the nation's three ex-presidents spends much time on pills or ceremonial functions. All remain busy men. Of the three, the oldest appears the busiest.

At 87, the longest-lived president since John Adams, Mr. Hoover still puts in more than 10 hours of work a day at his desk in his Waldorf Towers apartment, writing books, writing and re-writing speeches and letters, helping to raise money for various charitable and educational institutions.

Such activity would be remarkable for any man of 87. It is even more remarkable for this man who was supposed to have been finished 28 years ago when history slammed a door in his face and snapped the bolt.

Herbert Hoover left the White House in 1933 during the long dark agony of the depression, in which a majority of Americans was persuaded he was the chief villain. He left at a time of deep bitterness.

Shantytowns were called Hoovervilles; cars drawn by mules, Hoover wagons; jack rabbits, Hoover hogs; newspapers around the body of a man sleeping on a park bench, Hoover blankets.

He left as the butt of a thousand bitter jokes. According to one, President Hoover asked his secretary of the Treasury, Andrew Mellon, for the loan of a nickel to phone a friend. Said

Mellon: "Here's a dime; call all of them."

He left the White House, it appeared, a bitter and broken man. At least one friend didn't expect him to live another year. His critics were certain he would never be heard from again in public and even Republicans were convinced he was a stone-dead political liability.

Since then, however, Herbert Hoover has not only endured but flourished in productive work and public esteem. There is now great affection when there was little before.

Since then, he has handled, with great praise, four major assignments at the behest of Democratic and Republican administrations; made hundreds of widely attended speeches, including four moving "farewells" to GOP national conventions, and written 12 books, including the well-received study of "The Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson." Most of this was done after Mr. Hoover passed the age of 70.

Among other things, at 83 and writing in pencil, he undertook a four-volume series titled "An American Epic," an exhaustive report on non-governmental American charity for the rest of the world in the last 45 years. The fourth volume was recently finished. Now Mr. Hoover is at work on a new book, a study of foreign affairs, including the cold war period.

At 87, he remains alert, keen, productive, profoundly interested in world and national affairs, and a remarkable practitioner of intense concentration in work or play.

Herbert Hoover has much to do and cherishes his time. It is planned and worked with all the precision of a pilot determined to get all he can out of his aircraft before it must be grounded. In the words of a friend, Mr. Hoover is an "old man in a hurry."

On a recent birthday, he held a rare news conference, in which it was disclosed that in his 85th year, he had; attended 33 public functions, made 20 speeches, answered 21,195 letters, received 23 awards, travelled 14,000 miles, made TV appearances, laid asorted cornerstones, worked on his books and raised $1,500,000 for the Boys Club of America, of which he is chairman.

"I hope," he said, "you will conclude I have not ceased work."

The remark is typical of the understatement Mr. Hoover frequently favors in his prose these days. He works hard at it, whether the occasion is a major speech or brief after-dinner remarks or a short note to the cook of his friend, Clarence Budington Kelland.

This last usually is addressed "Dear Cookie Cook," and contains a graceful word of thanks for the cookies along with a pointed reminder that he was returning the jar empty. The hint never fails and the cookies keep coming.

He still receives many letters from school children around the country asking a variety of direct questions in laboriously printed block letters on lined pages. To all, Mr. Hoover pencils his replies, to be typed by a secretary.

Herbert Hoover is not the sort of person who lectures anyone, young or old. But his ideas of public service are rigid, without compromise. To all who ask about a career as a "politician," he gently suggests they replace the word with "public servant."

Among Mr. Hoover's friends, there are those who say he has been changed, been mellowed by the altered public image of him since 1933. Others put it another way. They say the human warmth was always there, that it retreated into a shell during the bitter depression criticism and emerged only as a result of new public affection.

In any case, the public attitude has changed and Herbert Hoover has acknowledged it in a number of small private ways.

On a recent summer afternoon, at the Bohemian Grove in California, about 100 campers came up to pay their respects at Mr. Hoover's cabin. This was typical of recent years but the former president was moved to remark, to a friend, "You know the first time I came here after leaving the White House, only two people sought me out. And they sneaked in through the woods so nobody would see them."

Several years ago Mr. Hoover was being driven by commercial chauffeur to a dinner engagement just north of New York City. Being late, he urged the driver to make time. A motorcycle cop stopped them, bawled out the driver and was about to write out a ticket when Mr. Hoover interceded and took the blame.

Whereupon the cop put away his book, smiled broadly and said, "Why, Mr. Hoover, I've been wanting to shake your hands for 29 years."

Such incidents are not remarkable in the life of any public figure, but to Herbert Hoover, who for a long time was pictured as the heartless, hapless ogre of the depression, it earned a priority in his memory book.

It probably ranked higher than the cries of "No! no! no!" which followed his first farewell to the Republican National Convention in 1932, when he noted, "From the inexorable course of nature, this is likely to be the last time I shall attend your conventions." It probably ranked as high in Herbert Hoover's memory as the two unanimous glowing resolutions passed by both Houses of Congress praising his work in behalf of his country.

In 47 years of intermittent government service, Herbert Hoover has turned all his federal salary checks over to charity, including his $25,000 a year presidential pension. He made his fortune as a mining engineer early in his career. He gave away all his governmental income, he once explained, to acknowledge a "great debt" to his country.

A Spur to Urban Plan

Coincident with dedication of Jefferson City's new $7,000,000 Rex M. Whitton Expressway through the heart of that city Friday is announcement from Washington that more than $22 million will be available immediately to Missouri in an acceleration of the Federal Highway program by President Kennedy.

Jefferson City is one of several Missouri cities in which citizens voted bond issues to participate in the urban highway building program. In this respect the Capital City was two years ahead of Sedalia by passing their bond issue in November 1957. Two years elapsed before construction work started.

Sedalia's participation in the urban system was approved October 20, 1959 by a bond election of $350,000 for a $3,000,000 project, less than half the magnitude of the one in Jefferson City. The fact that it took a little more than two years before the construction wheels began turning in Jefferson City should be some balm of comfort to those impatient Sedalia citizens distressed by the protracted yet necessary preparations for such improvements. For many months local citizens had been uneasy, too, about the lack of federal and state participation funds.

There is some reassurance now that our own urban plan improvement may be accelerated since the President has directed federal funds be released immediately. Previously they were allotted to the states for October, November and December. The money may be used on Interstate systems or on other federal aid roads. Sedalians are assured the latter will include our own urban plan.

J. J. Corbett, chief engineer of the Missouri Highway department, says it will do everything possible to get plans ready and let contracts earlier on major projects which certainly should include the one in Sedalia.

Soon after the bond issue was passed here in 1959 the city administrations and the highway department agreed that construction work should begin with that part of the urban project embracing the area north from Broadway including the overpass at West Main street and the Missouri Pacific railroad.

With availability of federal and state funds Sedalians rightfully anticipate that the start of its $3 million construction work will at least approximate the two year pace of Jefferson City's improvement planning and surveys which required two years, and completion of construction in 21 months.

On a comparative time schedule basis there ought to be some contracts awarded by October and some spades of dirt turned over by December this year in connection with the Sedalia Urban plan.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Communism Not Wooed By Europeans

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter written from Stockholm, Sweden, to his eldest grandson, Drew Arnold.)

By DREW PEARSON
Stockholm, Sweden
August 13, 1961

Dear Drew,

You probably have heard of the statement made by Premier Khrushchev of Russia that my grandchildren, and other peoples' grandchildren will live under Communism. His statement is an important one which could affect all the boys and girls of America and I am on my way to Russia to report on whether it is likely to come true.

On my way, I stopped in two countries which lie very close to Russia. They are Norway and Sweden, and I figured that if any countries were likely to go Communist, these little nations which live under the very shadow of the Soviet system would be the most likely.

If you will get out your map you will see what I mean. You also will remember from studying history that the peoples of these two countries have been very adventurous and that one of them, Leif Ericson, in the early days even before Columbus, actually landed on what is now North America.

I have been traveling all through Norway. It is rugged and mountainous, full of beautiful lakes and deep, narrow harbors, and the people are honest, industrious, and friendly. Because their country is so rocky, they have taken to the seas and developed a great shipping and fishing industry. Together with the Swedes, many have also come to America, and some of our fine public servants, like Chief Justice Earl Warren, Senator Warren Magnuson of Washington, and Judge Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota, came — through their ancestors — from these countries.

How To Defeat Communism

But despite the poverty and roughness of this area, the Norwegian and Swedish governments are among the most stable in Europe. They are in no danger of going Communist. Both have labor governments and have had them for 28 years.

Some people, like the John Birch Society members and Rev. Billy Hargis of Oklahoma, would claim these governments were Communist because they've adopted generous pensions for old people and a medical health program for everyone. But what people vote for they have a right to. That's a principle of democracy which is opposed to Communism — the right to vote and decide for yourself.

If you will look over the map of Europe, or travel over Europe as I have done, you will find that no European country has become Communist — unless it has been taken by force of arms. The countries around Russia which are generally called satellite countries did not become Communist by voting. They are occupied by Russian troops. Only then did they become Communist. Others, alongside them, with the right to vote, did not.

However, in order to prevent Communism you have to meet and defeat the problems that cause Communism. That's what these little countries of Norway and Sweden have done. So has Finland, which is located even closer to Russia but which is also non-Communist.

Under The Czar

Your great-grandfather, Count Josef Gyzky, once was a member of the Czar's cavalry at a time when the Czar ruled Russia with an iron hand. That Czarist system was what really caused Communism. Your great-grandmother, an American girl who moved from Chicago to live in Russia, used to tell me how shocked she was when she saw the peasants horsewhipped and punched in the face by the overseers on your great-grandfather's farm. This was only 50 years ago, which is very short in the history of nations.

It was this system of treating human beings that really caused Communism. When you don't treat people right, they revolt.

And the people of Norway and Sweden have worked very quietly and efficiently to bring about better living, better health, better schools and hospitals, so that they don't even have strikes in these countries. I suppose this is because labor unions don't like to strike against a labor government, and also because they get such a good deal in pensions and health benefits.

At any rate, when I read over Khrushchev's twenty-year goals for the Russian people I noticed that most of these benefits had already been won by the Swedes and Norwegians and in large part also by the American people.

So, instead of trying to have you live under Communism, it looks as if Khrushchev is trying to win some of the benefits of Capitalism. This is a real compliment to us. And as long as he doesn't use force of arms to win them we can't quarrel with him for trying; because the heart of the Capitalist system is competition.

However, I shall be in Russia soon and will write you what I find out.

Lots of Love,
Your Grandfather

Just Who Did Win?

Remarked often is the ironic twist which has made stout allies out of our two great World War II enemies, Germany and Japan.

Both were, of course, heavy recipients of rehabilitation aid in the early postwar years. Also on the material side, they have benefited continuously from the U.S. "military presence" on their soil.

Fresh evidence of this comes from Sen. Harry Byrd's joint "federal economy" committee. It shows that of 171,000 foreign nationals working in U.S. government activities overseas but not listed on regular U.S. rolls, 80,000 are in West Germany, 56,000 in Japan. All are civilians attached to our armed services.

Our diplomats may not have liked it, but a sharp point was scored by a satiric British film which depicted a tiny, fictional "Balkan" land declaring war on the United States so it could lose and become eligible for massive aid.

West Won't Likely Stir Pot On East German Stove

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON—Events in Berlin are moving so rapidly they may get beyond even Communist control by accident.

That is considered the great danger in the current crisis—the possibility of an unintentional wrong war being started at the wrong time.

So the United States and its western European allies are making no moves to stir up another revolt of the East Germans against their Communist masters. West Germany is opposed to any such move for several reasons.

The Adenauer government has never done anything either to encourage or discourage the flight of East German refugees to the West. The millions who have fled communism have been welcomed and resettled as fast as possible. But the Bonn government does not want to "de-Germanize" the east zone.

If that should happen then Russians or other eastern European people would move into the vacuum. There would then be less reason to work for reunification of Germany.

There are two other realities that must be faced.

One is that there are 20 Russian divisions concentrated in East Germany. This force is about the equivalent of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces scattered all over western Europe.

They could not be moved into any support to an East German revolt.

The other important factor is that memory of the 1953 revolt of East German workers is still fresh enough in mind to make any repetition of such a distasteful unlikely.

That began as a strike of 5,000 factory workers. But it quickly spread to half a million workers all over the Soviet zone. It was ruthlessly suppressed by Russian tanks.

But out of that demonstration there came some relaxation of Communist controls in East Germany. And the world saw that the puppet government was maintained by force of Russian arms, not by the free will of the people.

It is now believed that a similar advantage can be gained by not stirring up the Berlin situation unnaturally. The force of world public opinion may be marshalled against the Russians by newspaper pictures showing Russian tanks closing the border with West Germany.

If the situation were reversed, the Communists would unquestionably move agitators into the crisis area to stir up further trouble. That is standard Communist operating procedure.

But they would not be Russian provocateurs who would lead the uprising and get killed. They would be natives storming the barricades and being shot down mercilessly.

For the west to stir up trouble in Berlin now would merely get a lot of civilians killed needlessly. Soviet military power would remain as strong as it was before. That is what has to be destroyed — not the German people.

Restraint on the part of the United States and its NATO allies may be viewed as a sign of weakness. Another failure to come to the rescue of the revolting workers—as in East Germany in 1953 and Hungary in 1956—would make the West look bad.

Defense of freedom is a great principle. But where questions of remote geography are concerned, Civil War General Nathan Forrest's admonition to "Git thar fu-stest with the mostest" is still sound strategy, even in a nuclear age.

Both East and West are playing high brinkmanship over the Berlin situation today. This war of nerves will probably get worse. But the time for a showdown will not come until all means of obtaining a peaceful settlement by negotiation have been exhausted.

It would be suicide for the Germans to try to overcome Soviet force at this stage.

Everybody who smokes usually at one time or another, for some reason, decides to quit and some do just by simply stopping all at once. Some try to take it gradually and finally manage. And some never quite make the grade.

One man, however, seems to have gone at it the hard way. He is just teasing himself along. He allows himself one cigar a week. He looks forward to 10 o'clock Wednesday morning for his smoke, and if he happens to miss, forgetting that it is Wednesday or 10 o'clock or something, then he doesn't allow himself a cigar that week. He has to wait until the next week.

"How have you made out?" he asked a friend who also had given up smoking.

"Fine," replied the friend. "I don't smoke at all anymore. Of course I lost a few fingernails in the process but it doesn't bother me any more."

"I had to buy a package of gum," admitted the third man.

"I bought several packages of gum," commented the second man.

What is this? An epidemic of giving up smoking? Maybe they should form a club of some kind. Maybe a club where at 10 o'clock every Wednesday morning they would meet and chew gum. At least they could help the first fellow over the hump if they would all drop in at his place of business at 10 o'clock Wednesday mornings and give him a cake of gum. The next thing he would have to try to break himself of gum chewing. And he would find himself looking forward to Wednesday morning for his cake of gum. —H. L.

Humility vs. Arrogance

By Ralph W. Loew, D. D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Mankind is beset by the tantrums of an arrogant leader who ranges from pounding the table with his shoe to a flaunting of the United Nations. In the polite and somewhat stuffy arena of diplomacy, here is blatant arrogance.

To which the man in the street usually responds, "You have to meet fire with fire." But what is fire?

History is replete with the tragedies of the Caesars and their would-be counterparts that clutter up nations, cities and households. Even in such matters as traffic control, the problems are complicated by the rudeness of normally polite people who arrogantly take the law into their own hands and end up with the tragedies of the irresponsible.

Our problem is simply, do we meet arrogance with arrogance? Must we worship the gods of our enemies? Or do we still believe that a Cross which defeated the arrogance of a Caesar might suggest the maturity of a humility which could yet save this generation?

Arrogance degrades patriotism into narrow nationalism, religious loyalty into denominational snobbery, family pride into ancestor worship, honored heritages into racial bigotry and educational ambition into conceited intellectualism. Arrogance is the immaturity which denies self-criticism, erects iron curtains, separates man from man. It is done between nations and within nations. It isn't only Khrushchev who tries the stunt.

Humility, on the other hand, is no namby-pamby sentimentalism. The strength of humility is in its ability to judge the monster without becoming monstrous. The strength of a David against Goliath was not only in the well-placed stone. It was in the inability of the giant to consider the possibility of a strength beyond his own muscles. You don't beat giants by worshipping giantism.

True humility nurtures a maturity which enables a person or a nation to confess faults, recognize limitations, and not become idolaters of muscles. The meek are not anemic sissies; they are the strong who have caught the exciting possibilities of becoming true learners, understanding the needs and yearnings of others.

In a world of blatant arrogance will we try to imitate that arrogance? Or will we have the maturity to match the strength of the bully with the strength of godliness? On the answer to this challenge hinges much of this planet's destiny.

Salk Vaccine Still Best Protection Against Polio

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
For reasons that defy reasonable explanation, a writer in the Journal of the American Medical Association recently questioned the value of the Salk vaccine. This uncalled for and unsupported opinion, together with the enthusiastic claims of those who hope to establish the superiority of oral vaccines that are not yet commercially available, has given comfort to those who have not yet sought protection for themselves and their children against paralytic poliomyelitis.

To offset these poor excuses for neglecting to secure available protection, a Committee on Polio-virus Vaccines reviewed the accumulated experiences with Salk vaccine in the United States and other countries and arrived at the following heartening conclusions: When three or more doses of Salk vaccine are given, at least 80 per cent of the vaccinated obtain protection.

With a single exception recent outbreaks have occurred only in the unvaccinated.

The ability of the vaccine to protect has risen steadily for the past two years. The relatively unsatisfactory results of earlier vaccines, on which critics dwell, need no longer be considered.

Effectiveness similar to that reported in the U.S. has been observed also by the World Health Organization whose estimate of protection varies between 75 and 95 per cent in other major countries served by U.N.

"Salk vaccine is now well established as one of the most effective vaccines of any kind presently available.

"There is every reason for and no reason against every unvaccinated person being vaccinated with Salk vaccine, especially those under 40 years of age."

To which I would add, if you love your children, don't let the sun set on another day until you secure for them the protection that Salk vaccine affords.

If you, for whatever reason, oppose vaccination, don't let innocent youngsters suffer for your misinformation or neglect.

Interest in Your Child's Interests: A Better Life

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In its big display window, the hardware store has set up an artificial flower bed to exhibit its garden tools — trowels, canvas gloves, clippers, rakes, etc. It fascinates our five-year-old Bobby. Clutching a heavy grocery bag, our minds on the dinner waiting to be made, we are not fascinated. "That's enough looking now," we tell Bobby. "Come on. I've got to get home."

But instead of coming on, Bobby deepens his interest in the window display. After a moment's hesitation, we say, "All right, stay. I'm going on. You can come home by yourself."

The trick doesn't work. A block away, we pause. Looking back, we see unbudging, stubborn Bobby still glued to the window.

We are responsible for the resulting scene for we have been stubborn, too. Just as Bobby has refused to share our interest in getting home, we have refused to share his interest in the bright colors of the window display's paper flowers; its shining, intriguing tools.

Had we been willing to put down our heavy grocery bag, just for three minutes to join in Bobby's fascination, he would willingly have left the window to hop along happily beside us as we together talked over the merits and demerits of installing a little box garden on the kitchen window sill.

Parents who have been trained in unquestioning obedience as children invite stubbornness from their own.

Unaccustomed to parental interests in their interests, they mistake adult authority for self-centeredness. So interest in children's interests equals weakness to them. To register the genuineness of Bobby's interest in the window display, to postpone the satisfaction of their own interest in getting home in order to join him in his would frighten them.

No, Bobby must immediately indulge their interest in getting home — or they'd never regain control of him. He naturally senses this terror of ever giving any true attention to him and as a consequence is developing that intense overconcern with his own interests that we call "stubbornness."

The sad thing about it is its deceiving appearance. It looks hateful and mean. Actually, the intensity of its resistance is the measure of your child's hunger for your involvement with him, for your interest in his interests, for the sharing of his life with you.

But parents unaccustomed to interest from others always misread this meaning.

Where'er We Look

We find the things we seek to find, And to the other things are blind, Save people with an open mind: "It's just the same old thing," they say, "Last year, yesterday, today." "And it will always be that way"; Because they look in disbelief It's value they see not beneath, Their glance at something is but brief; Unless in it they have a part, Something that is close to their heart— Then—it becomes a work of art; But those whose life's philosophy is deeper than the eye can see With them can never quite agree: For there is always something new In everything they see and do If they but take a liberal view; In every corner, every nook The heart of man, the running brook, In all God made where'er we look, When we have learned to love and share And for all things we learn to care, We find life's hidden beauty there.

STORM LAKE (Iowa) PILOT-TRIBUNE: Put It On Page One. — "Now, please put it on the front page where everybody will see it!" How often we newspaper folks hear that.

Why, bless your hearts, gentle readers, if we thought people read only the first page, we'd print one page every week and quit.

A newspaper is a good deal like a store. The front page corresponds to the show window. Inside you'll find the goods you're after. We publishers know that the backbone of our product is composed of the messages and offerings of our ads, a newspaper just wouldn't be worth taking home — if in fact it were printed at all!

As for news — well the most features in any newspaper, speaking from the feminine viewpoint to which we cater, are the personals and the social news. Inside also you'll find the sports department, informative letters sent by our correspondents, classified advertisements, legal publication. Some folks even read the special columns and the editorials!

Of course the front page of a newspaper is attention compelling — it should be. But never make the mistake of thinking that your newspaper stops there.

Read it each week from kiver to kiver. You'll find every column is well worth your attention!

Rating Race Nearing For TV Industry

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In just a few weeks they'll be off and running in the 1961-62 TV rating race.

Perhaps you couldn't care less, but up and down Madison Avenue they'll be a-tangle for the race to begin. You and I can tell at a glance whether a show is good or lousy. But the ad man never knows until the ratings tell him so.

As always, the main interest in the rating derby concerns the long-running, high-rated champions and whether they can be topped from their thrones.

Here's how the races shape up: "Gunsmoke" is going double-barreled this season, expanding to an hour. That may or may not aid its chances of retaining CBS's Saturday night monopoly with "Have Gun, Will Travel." NBC is countering with an unimaginative but potentially successful plan of offering old Fox movies. ABC is sticking with swinging Laurence Welk and the fights.

Who can beat "The Untouchables"? Nobody, judging from the opposition: "CBS Reports" and NBC's "Sing Along with Mitch."

Will the public continue to swing along with "Wagon Train"? Probably. CBS can muster only "Alvin and the Chipmunks" and "Father Knows Best" reruns. ABC is pitting Steve Allen against the Westerners; remember when he was NBC's choice to lick Ed Sullivan?

The unlickable Sullivan faces NBC's Walt Disney, who was earlier downed by "Wagon Train." This gets to be a round robin. ABC's sacrifice offering is "Follow the Sun," a South Sea adventure our of the 20th Century-Fox mill.

"The Rifleman" faces real trouble from Robert Young's new show on CBS, plus "The Price Is Right" on NBC.

Danny Thomas, the Satchel Paige of TV, seems to have easy going against ABC's potboiler "Surfside 6" and something called "7th Precinct."

"The Real McCoys" faces some tough competition with the rejuvenation of "Dr. Kildare" on NBC and the third coming to TV of Robert Cummings on CBS.

Ratings, ratings, ratings. Everyone condemns them, but the television industry continues to live by them.

Ladies Aid Of St. Paul's Has Meet Thursday

The Ladies Aid of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church met Thursday in the church basement, at which time Mrs. Al Schreiner, president announced that the Fall Rally of the Sedalia Zone, Lutheran Women's Missionary League, will be held in Sedalia on Oct. 3. The LWML of St. Paul's of Sedalia will be the hostess. Mrs. Otto Dieckmann was appointed to serve as a member of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Schreiner presided over the meeting and gave a report of the board of directors of the LWML.

The meeting opened with the singing of two hymns, after which the Rev. Walter Strickert read the scripture reading from Isaiah 40:1-9 and also led the topic discussion "A Heart That Reaches Out and Loves."

The Ladies Aid voted to again assist with the booth at the State Fair sponsored by the Sedalia and Concordia Zones of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League and also, to give $100 to the organ fund of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Sedalia.

There were 16 members answering roll call.

The meeting adjourned by praying the Lord's Prayer in unison.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Lillian Mosier, Mrs. Carl Bergmann and Mrs. Walter Raabe from tables decorated with summer flowers. Little boats were favors.

Trade Leader Thinks Nikita Will Avert War

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A Soviet trade leader said today he thinks Premier Khrushchev, who sent a 14-page letter on Berlin to President Janio Quadros, will do all he can to prevent a war over Berlin.

The government did not immediately release the text of the letter. A spokesman termed it "the most terrible message one can imagine about the Berlin crisis."

The Soviet trade mission chief Victor Azov, handed the letter to Quadros at the Capitol in Brasilia Thursday after a visit to the president by U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot. Cabot, who paid his official farewell, did not acknowledge the Russian.

Some dispatches from Brasilia said Quadros was impressed with the fact that he is perhaps the only Latin-American leader to receive Khrushchev's recent views personally.

Several newspapers said the president planned to make the letter public after an official translation.

Record Funds Appropriated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A peacetime record $46,662,556,000 military appropriation bill, including funds to start a nationwide system of air raid shelters, has been signed by President Kennedy.

It includes about $3.5 billion in emergency funds which Kennedy asked last month to build up both the manpower and the equipment of the armed forces, and another billion to continue production and development of long-range jet bombers.

Announcement that Kennedy had signed the measure late Thursday was made by the White House today.

The bill's total is $265,611,000 more than Kennedy asked to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The bill provides flexibility to shift funds.

Tossed into the military money bill for the first time was an allotment of $7.6 million to start work on Civil Defense projects, including eventual construction of fallout shelters in post offices and other federal buildings throughout the country. The money could be used also to purchase food, medical supplies and other emergency equipment.

Gain Control Of Oldest County Bank

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Lester Cox, Springfield, and William A. Borders, St. Louis, have acquired working control of the Exchange National Bank, Cole County's oldest financial institution.

Cox, business man and a member of the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri, and Borders, president of the Security Mutual Bank and Trust Co., of St. Louis, are Democratic party leaders.

At his office in Springfield, Cox confirmed reports that he and Borders had bought 40 per cent of the bank's stock, enough to give them working control of the institution. Included in the transaction was the acquisition of the Dallmeyer family interests, Cox said.

Cox said the purchase was made as an investment and that no change in management is contemplated. Presently the institution has resources of about $25 million.

Note Decline In Department Store Business

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Department store sales in the 8th Federal Reserve District for the week ending Aug. 12 declined at least five per cent in every reporting area save Louisville, which registered a 14 per cent increase.

District officials said the Louisville figures reflect the fact that a greater number of stores were included in the sample taken this year.

In comparison with sales in the comparable week last year Little Rock dropped 12 per cent, St. Louis 8 per cent and Memphis 7 per cent.

Overall sales in the district were 2 per cent lower for the month ending Aug. 12 than in the comparable month a year ago. The biggest decrease was in Little Rock where sales for the month dropped 7 per cent. St. Louis and Memphis reported declines of 6 per cent, while Louisville registered a gain of 19 per cent.

Attorney Seeks Office Emptied By Sen. Gibson

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Rep. John F. Hayner, 38, Independence lawyer, filed Thursday night for the Senate seat of Sen. Floyd R. Gibson, D-Independence, who is moving up to a federal judgeship.

Gibson was nominated Thursday for U. S. district judge for the Western District of Missouri. He plans to resign from the Senate after 15 years when the appointment is confirmed.

Hayner, a Democrat, is serving his first term in the Missouri House. Gibson also served in the House before being elected to the 8th District Senate seat in 1946.

Gibson's resignation will leave the Senate with two vacancies. Sen. John A. Johnson, D-Ellington, died after the 1961 session ended.

WMS of Windsor Has Meet

The Woman's Missionary Society met at the First Baptist Church of Windsor for the August meeting.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Frank Coit. Mrs. George Biondi led in prayer.

The following officers presented by Mrs. William Hopkins, chairman of the nominating committee, were elected to serve from Oct. 1, 1961 through Sept. 30, 1962. Mrs. Walter Chipman, secretary; Mrs. James Swisher, treasurer; Mrs. Neal Peck, YWA director; Mrs. C. L. Coffey, GA director; Mrs. Frank Coit, Sunbeam director; chairmen of committees: Mrs. Clyde L. Allen, enlistment; Mrs. Robert Barrett, program; Mrs. George Markarian, mission study; Mrs. Clifford Gouge, prayer; Mrs. Howard Bullock, community missions; Mrs. Elwood Barbour, publications. The remaining officers will be elected at the September meeting.

Since this is the 75th anniversary year of the organization of the first Sunbeam Band (children's missionary society) in Fairmount, Va., in April, 1886, the Kennedy Circle, with Mrs. James Bilbruck leading, presented very effectively the history of the growth of this organization from 284 Sunbeam Bands with 10,000 members during the first three years to 27,717 Sunbeam Nurseries and Sunbeam Bands with 311,386 members in 50 states in 1961. Interesting facts concerning Sunbeam work and stories of experiences of missionaries and pastors who have felt they were first influenced in their decision to give their lives in special Christian service through their Sunbeam memberships were given by Mrs. Don Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Homer Robertson, Jr., Mrs. Dale Hix, and Mrs. Clyde Lee Allen. Their talks were interspersed by pantomimes featuring five Sunbeam members — Delisa and ReNell Robertson, David and Phillip Markarian and Brenda Hix with one of the speakers.

In the first scene the children stood around a birthday cake as all sang "Happy Birthday, Dear Sunbeams." Other pantomimes were a mother telling Bible stories, and a Sunbeam leader holding a globe while acquainting her Sunbeam Band with customs of children in other lands. During these scenes Mrs. George Markarian played "I Love to Tell the Story" and "Christ for the Whole World" on the piano.

The program closed with prayer by Mrs. Bilbruck. The next meeting will be with Miss Sadie Homan Sept. 19. The lesson will be on Handicraft by Mrs. Frank Yeager.

Bourguiba Asks Action By Citizens

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—President Habib Bourguiba called today for demonstrations in French-occupied Bizerte and said any effort of French troops to interfere will be answered with force.

Speaking to a crowd estimated at 300,000 in the southern port city of Sousse, Bourguiba ordered a buildup of popular pressure before the opening Monday of the special U.N. General Assembly session on the French-Tunisian conflict over Bizerte naval base.

Bourguiba said he hoped the U.S. government will change its position and vote against France at the United Nations.

Bourguiba's speech opened three days of public demonstrations in support of the government's campaign for the evacuation of French forces from Bizerte.

The ruling Neo-Destour party called on the citizens of this tiny North African country to go out and "demonstrate peacefully." Nevertheless, fear gripped the French community. Settlers generally kept to their homes as loudspeakers throughout the county boomed Bourguiba's shrill voice. French authorities at the Bizerte base said they were bracing for possible disorders.

The demonstrations are expected to reach their peak Saturday with mass rallies in Tunis and Bizerte.

A Foreign Ministry communique rejected a French offer to negotiate a return to normalcy in Bizerte, saying it is interested only in talks on total evacuation of French forces from Tunisia.

A Foreign Ministry communique was in answer to a statement by the French Foreign Ministry Thursday that President Charles de Gaulle's government desires to negotiate "the return to a more normal situation" in the area of the big French naval base in Tunisia and the adjoining town which the French forces seized in heavy fighting last month.

Peace Corps Members Not Flag Wavers

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) —Larry Radley, as barefoot as a Sioux Indian, hopped out of the black Ford.

He paused in front of the short metal fire stairs, baking hot under the high sun.

"C'mon," he called over his shoulder and then nimbly skipped up the burning steps into the building.

Thus did Larry Radley, 22, fresh from the University of Illinois, one of the nation's first Peace Corpsmen, report for his class in American History. His corpsmen training at Rutgers University were already in class.

Some others were barefoot. Some wore sandals. Some wore faded Madras plaid shorts. Some wore dungarees, some wore T-shirts out at the waist.

Their critics, who have belabored the Peace Corps program for sending what they call beardless youths on men's work, would have been delighted. But then the critics could do well to tarry awhile amongst the Peace Corpsmen here, a group of youths from all over with all kinds of backgrounds who cast off from their varied careers to join the corps.

The Peace Corps has struck an untapped lode. Most of the group here are emphatic that they are not joiners, do-gooders, or flag wavers. In fact flag waver is the worst name you can call a corpsman.

Hardly any were considering such work before the corps was announced. They signed up in droves and feel sorry for friends who didn't.

Although the trends are changing, in years past such tasks as the Peace Corps will be doing were handled by well-trained missionaries disciplined by the demands of their faith. The character of missionary work has been changing with the broadening of its field into secular aid projects. Missionaries are becoming increasingly young men with varied interests and backgrounds.

This is also true of the Peace Corps. Despite certain definite parallels between the corps and missionary work, few of its members come from missionary families. There was only one fellow in the Rutgers contingent of about 80 whose father was a missionary.

In any event, the inexperience of the corpsmen has given fuel for their doubters. They looked more like a class at Anywhere Tech than the hope of the underdeveloped world.

Civic Council Of Houstonia Has Meet

The Houstonia Civic Council met at the Houstonia High School Tuesday night. There were nine members present.

The winners of the yard of the month were Walter Werneke for town and Richard Van Steenburg for country. Everett Lee Blackburn and Claude Bratton gave a report on the ball teams for the summer. A discussion was held for plans for the teams for next year.

Civil Defense was discussed and what plans should be made. A report was then given on the mowing and weed cutting done in town.

Matter of Fact
In the springtime, birds fill the air with their mating calls. Fish have mating calls too, some of them not very different from bird calls. One of the most surprising sounds made by courting fish can best be described as a "wolf whistle." In competition, the fish who whistles loudest usually wins the lady.
